

Sinatra Case Called Publicity

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A trio of defense attorneys shouted publicity hoax Tuesday at the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnapping trial, then the government produced a witness who identified one defendant as buyer of a gun allegedly used in the abduction.

Mrs. Gladys Towles Root, counsel for defendant John Kriviah, 42, told jurors evidence will show the kidnapping was staged with young Sinatra's "consent and cooperation."

She added that young Sinatra, 19, told her, "The ladies used to swoon over my father. There some wise publicity agent took that on and made my father into an international star."

"The press hasn't found me as exciting as my father."

Cyprus Resents Ball's Visit

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Undersecretary of State George Ball flies to Cyprus on his peace mission and is expected to get a cool reception from Greek Cypriots. There was a possibility of new anti-American demonstrations.

Coming from Turkey, the third stop on his mission, Ball will confer Wednesday with President Makarios, a Greek Cypriot who is an Orthodox archbishop, and Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, a Turkish Cypriot.

On the eve of his arrival, reports circulated in Nicosia of possible demonstrations similar to those last week when two bombs were set off at the U.S. Embassy.

Hoffa Blasts Silencing Tactics

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa accused a federal judge Tuesday of "trying to silence our voice" by putting off a hearing on charges the government is watching the defense closely.

The stocky union leader, in an impromptu news conference on the Court House steps, said the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati will be asked as soon as possible "why we are being denied our constitutional rights."

No Attorney For Oswald's Mom

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second lawyer for Mrs. Marguerite Oswald tried without success Tuesday to participate in her questioning by the Warren Commission. He then told reporters that she has disputed the testimony of her daughter-in-law concerning the rifle which may have slain President John F. Kennedy.

Mark Lane, retained without fee by the mother of Lee Harvey Oswald to defend her son's name, told newsmen Oswald's young widow, Marina, originally failed to identify the presumed assassination weapon as belonging to her husband.

$1.3 Billion Financing Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has offered its 2.25 million shareholders $1.3 billion of common stock at $100 a share—about $45 below the market price.

It is the biggest corporate financing program in U.S. history.

Proceeds will go to help meet a $3.25-billion growth and modernization program in 1964 — perhaps including an investment to get the Communications Satellite Corp. going.

Harris, Small Trial Opens

STROUDSBURG — The legal battle of former Stroudsburg burgess, Hal H. Harris, and present borough mayor, Joseph H. Small, opened yesterday before a packed courtroom in Monroe County Courthouse.

A parade of plaintiff witnesses highlighted the opening day of the civil libel suit in which Harris contends Small defamed his character and helped to send him down to defeat in the borough's mayoralty runoff in November, 1961.

Harris, a Democrat and long-time chief burgess of Stroudsburg, is represented by Kenneth Lewis of East Stroudsburg. Small, a Republican, is represented by Phillip Williams of the Bensinger and Bensinger firm of Stroudsburg.

Harris claims a political advertisement printed in "The Daily Record" Nov. 4, 1961, is the basis for the suit.

Small, a Stroudsburg insurance executive, as well as mayor of the borough, took full responsibility for the political advertisement when questioned by Lewis during the morning session.

Called to testify were Atty. George T. Robinson, Stroudsburg borough solicitor; Harold Waidelich, Jack Mullins, James Somers, Lowell H. Cross and Small.

Harris contends the advertisement defamed his character and helped defeat him in the 1961 contest against Small for mayor.

Harris seeks damage in excess of $5,000.

The trial will resume today at 9:30 a.m. before Wayne County President Judge James Rutherford, specially presiding.

The advertisement that appeared in "The Daily Record" Nov. 4, 1961, and paid for by Small, said:

"Yes, $100,000 is a lot of money, but it took George Robinson and a judgment in Monroe County Court to collect. Think . . . then vote Joe Small for mayor of Stroudsburg."

Lewis, who distributed copies of the advertisement to the jury, said in his opening remarks, "The ad is the sole basis for the complaint."

He said the plaintiff will show the ad placed in "The Daily Record" Saturday, Nov. 4, 1961, only three days before the general election Nov. 7, made it impossible for Harris to answer the charges.

"Intended For Harris"

"Although the ad contained no name the average reader knew it was intended for Harris and contributed to his election defeat."

"The ad by its words gives rise to innuendoes that Harris is dishonest, crooked, a thief and unfit for office," he said.

Robinson under direct examination by Lewis, said in 1947 he entered a judgment against Harris to collect $1,469 in fines and said this was the only judgment against Harris he knew about.

Under cross examination by Williams of the law firm of Small's counsel, Robinson said: "The judgment (in 1947) states an auditor's report shows a balance due to the Borough of Stroudsburg by the chief burgess for fines assessed in 1946."

Williams brought out through Robinson's testimony that on more than one occasion, the Stroudsburg council discussed Harris' failure to turn over money collected from fines.

Robinson said he knew of no other legal action taken against Harris to collect money belonging to the borough.

Small was called to the stand by Lewis under cross examination.

Asked, "Did you publish this ad," Small said, "I sat down with a person from The Daily Record and decided this was what would go in the paper. I finally decided."

Small said he had never actually seen a $100,000 judgment against Harris.

Lewis asked, "To whom did you refer when you talked about a $100,000 judgment?"

Small replied, "Harris."

He said under questioning that he had never published a retraction or apologized or gave any further explanation to the advertisement.

Waidelich, who lives at Stroudsburg RD 3 and is a pharmacist in LaBar's Drug Store on Main St., Stroudsburg, said in his opinion many people were "shocked" when they read of the charges contained in the advertisement.

He said he waits on 100 people a day and he talked to half of them about the advertisement on the day it was published and they believed it was true.

Waidelich, who said he qualified as a politically knowledgeable person, said the three most damaging words in the advertisement were:

"The word 'yes' in bold type, this is an affirmative word; the word 'but' is the 'iffiness,' and then the word 'think.' I think the whole thing left a very bad impression."

He recalled talking to "Mr. (Shad) Walton, a Republican and a great admirer of Harris; John Moyer of South Stroudsburg; Edwin Serfass of the First Ward (in Stroudsburg); Gertrude Englemeyer of the North Fifth St. area; Mrs. Schmidt; and Lucy Weiss."

Waidelich said each of these people came into the drug store and expressed amazement at the contents of the advertisement.

Lowell H. Cross, former advertising director of The Daily Record for 43 years testified as an expert witness on the question of the advertisement's impact on the general public.

In response to a question from Lewis on direct examination, Cross said, "We always hope the ad will impress on the minds of the readers the way the advertiser hopes it will."

Answering what effect the advertisement had on him, Cross said, "I would take the ad to mean that through George Robinson a judgment of $100,000 was claimed against someone."

Under cross examination Cross said he had no knowledge of the advertisement before it was published in the paper. He said he was responsible for the advertisement to the extent that he supervised The Record's advertising department.

Cross said the ad copy was handled by Charles Edmondson, now advertising manager of the paper. He said he would have passed the copy if Edmondson had showed it to him. "I would have presumed the information to be true," he said.

Williams brought out the fact that Harris published an advertisement several days before Small's. He said it mentioned a sum of money in excess of $100,000 that Harris claimed to have turned over to the borough in fines.

Cross admitted he handled Harris' advertisement and he took the information from Harris as being true. He said he saw no connection between the two advertisements.

Williams asked Cross if he was aware that in libel proceedings the paper is also liable for what it prints. Cross replied he was aware, but would have passed the advertisement regardless.

Jack Mullins, Stroudsburg insurance broker, who took the stand as a character witness for Harris, said, "Many people thought the money was misappropriated by Harris."

Asked what impression the advertisement made on him, Mullins said, "At first I thought it was true because it was printed."

He said everyone he talked to on the day of publication expressed "amazement" and in his opinion the advertisement contributed to Harris' defeat.

"Many people who are perhaps ten years younger than I and don't know Hal Harris as well as I, would think the money was misappropriated," said Mullins.

James Somers, manager of Sun-Jito Print, Inc., East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg's treasurer since 1951, said during his first seven years as treasurer Harris was the burgess and he discovered no shortage in monies collected in fines.

Somers said he followed the pattern set by his predecessor in accounting for money collected in fines. He said Harris put the money in a regular borough bank account and "I would pick up the deposit slips."

Under cross examination by Williams, Somers said he assumed that Harris collected fines during his time in office, "but I have no direct knowledge of how Harris turned the money in."

Asked if Harris' deposits checked with auditor's reports, Somers said, "The books balanced. This is a matter of record."

Pennsylvania Tax Agents Face New Jersey Arrests

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. (AP) — Robert Frederick, Warren County prosecutor, warned Tuesday that any Pennsylvania tax agents found "harassing" consumers here could be arrested.

The prosecutor has charged that the agents, in an attempt to enforce the Pennsylvania sales tax, have been stopping Pennsylvania residents who shop in New Jersey.

In Harrisburg, Pa., Joseph Gold, director of the Pennsylvania Revenue Department's Sales and Use Tax Bureau, called the charge "completely false."

Frederick said he has complained about the agents to Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and has directed state and local police to be on the lookout for any seen stopping shoppers.

"If we find any agents harassing the people, we'll request them to leave," Frederick said. "If they persist we could arrest them as disorderly persons."

He said complaints have been coming into his office from businessmen and Pennsylvania shoppers since shortly before Christmas.

Many Pennsylvanians cross the Easton, Pa. - Phillipsburg bridge to shop in New Jersey, where there is no sales tax, Frederick said. Pennsylvanians are supposed to report their out-of-state purchases and pay tax on them in the Commonwealth.

The agents reportedly operate at the newly opened Hillcrest Shopping Center in Phillipsburg. Frederick said. He said they request shoppers seen entering Pennsylvania-licensed cars to show their purchases.

Gold said sales tax agents have no authority to stop cars or search them. He said the agents do take down Pennsylvania license numbers seen in such places as the shopping center, and later write the owner notifying him that he is liable to pay the sales tax on his New Jersey purchase.

Gold said sales tax agents have no authority to stop consumers to check liquor purchases made out of state.

Frederick said the shopping center, which has no liquor store, is private property and Pennsylvania authorities have no lawful business there.

He said he had no proof that tax agents were either stopping cars on state highways or illegally searching cars.

State police detective Joseph Skelly, who is attached to Frederick's office, said if the agents were found to be stopping cars on state highways they could be charged with impeding the flow of traffic.

In addition to the state police, officers of the Phillipsburg and Lopatcong Township police were contacted by Frederick.

A spokesman for the prosecutor's office in Mercer County, across the Delaware River from Pennsylvania's Bucks County, said no similar complaints were heard there. But he said if such complaints arose in Mercer, "we would do the same as the Warren prosecutor is doing."

Says Jobless Bill Reform Needed To Lure Industry

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton proposed Tuesday broad reform of Pennsylvania unemployment compensation laws that would allow the state "to seriously compete in the national market for jobs and prosperity."

The governor addressed a joint house-Senate session convened to open five concurrent special sessions of the legislature. In addition to unemployment compensation, Scranton proposed legislation in these areas: implementation of Project 70; eminent domain; blind veterans pensions; and changes in state care for the senile elderly.

The governor devoted more than half of his 35-minute address to the unemployment compensation issue.

Proposals

He proposed: "First, we must pass into law

the unemployment compensation reforms that have been designed to strengthen our fund, raise the base of employer contributions, redesign the employer contribution rates, eliminate the benefit loopholes, and attract new industry and new jobs to Pennsylvania.

"Second, we must increase the meager weekly benefits paid to the legitimately unemployed. I have recommended to you an increase in the maximum of 12½ per cent, which advances us toward our goal of providing unemployment benefits equal to 50 per cent of work pay."

"Third, the time has come for Pennsylvania to commit itself to a massive program of job retraining. I have submitted for your approval a resolution which proclaims Pennsylvania's intention to take up on the state level the manpower retraining program already begun under federal law, but which by 1965 will need at least $10 million annually from state funds to continue."

"Retraining, not a temporary round of second benefits, is the answer for Pennsylvania's long-term unemployment."

With an eye on promised Democratic opposition to the unemployment compensation changes, Scranton advised his audience that at least one of the proposed measures follows policy laid down by the national administration of former President John F. Kennedy and President Johnson, both Democrats.

Double-Dip Rapped

The change in question involved the so-called double-dip allowance for unemployed persons to get a second round of benefits after an interval following the first round, even without any intervening employment.

"The elimination of the second round has been advocated by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, who served first President Kennedy and now President Johnson," said Scranton.

Discussing the other four special session proposals, Scranton said:

"The blind veterans pension act, passed by the General Assembly last year, has now been operating effectively for several months. It has been discovered, however, that the language of the act makes the pensions available only to veterans who became blind through actual injury. There are in Pennsylvania war veterans who became blind through service-connected illness or disease, and they are not now eligible for the pension. They are not many in number, but even if there was only one, this oversight has created an injustice which must be corrected without delay."

Pushes Pennsylvania

"Second, I ask you, through a simple change in the law, to put Pennsylvania in the forefront nationally of providing better, more humane care of the senile elderly."

"Presently, these elder citizens are combined with mental patients in state institutions. Modern medicine tells us this is unsound. The recommended change in the law will amend the current practice by setting aside portions of existing state mental institutions as state-operated nursing homes. Not only will this atmosphere be far more conducive to the happiness and comfort of the aged than is now the case, but because of federal grants we can actually do this on a smaller state appropriation."

"Third, in this special act, I ask you to provide the legislation necessary to implement Project 70."

"Last November the people of Pennsylvania decisively approved this plan to set aside land for the preservation of the natural beauty and recreational potential of our state."

"Project 70 is in a race against time. Every year more woodland disappears, more open space is gobbled up by the urban sprawl of our cities. We must preserve open space in which our ever more urban society can breathe, and for that purpose I ask you to implement the mandate of the voters to proceed."

$70 Million For Project

He proposed allocation of the $70 million in proposed borrowed funds for Project 70 to be allocated $40 million to acquire land; $20 million for matching funds with county and local government; $5 million for game conservation; $3 million for improved fishing and boating.

Hailed By GOP

Democrats Blast Governor's Talk

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton's proposed unemployment compensation program was presented to the legislature Tuesday, touching off swift reaction both for and against.

Minority Democrats immediately assailed the proposal as one of "deceit and distortion."

Republicans hailed it as a "hard-hitting, courageous approach to one of Pennsylvania's most pressing problems."

At the same time, men and women waving hand-made signs picketed local unemployment compensation offices in the Harrisburg area protesting the Scranton program.

Scranton addressed a joint session of the House and Senate, calling for truth and courage in tackling the problem of unemployment compensation.

Scranton also proposed legislation in the areas of Project 70, eminent domain, blind veterans pensions and state care for the senile elderly.

All the proposals are subjects of a special session of the legislature called at 12 noon. By law, the regular session is limited to fiscal matters, such as the governor's proposed $1.168 billion spending program for fiscal 1964-65.

But in the words of Scranton himself, "the most important business of all before this special session is the need to launch a massive attack on unemployment."

He called it "an act of national achievement" toward a goal of placing good libraries within the reach of all people.

The expanded program will be carried out under a matching formula that takes into account the per capita income of each area allotted money.

The two-way program provides help to pay for building new libraries or improving or enlarging existing ones, and to help pay for books, salaries, equipment and operating expenses.

Both programs can start in the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30, but separate legislation will be required first to provide the money.

The program includes $25 million a year for library services and $20 million a year for library construction.

Democrats joined in the applause only once, when the governor proposed changes in the state's eminent domain laws to pay more money to owners of properties damaged by mine caves in the coal regions.

But later, House Democrats launched the strongest attack they have mounted against Scranton since he became governor.

The program is not reform, but destruction, they said.

Cambodia Charges U.S. Intervention

SIEM REAP, Cambodia (AP) — Just when a Philippine formula for peace between Washington and Phnom Penh seemed to be producing results, Prince Norodom Sihanouk fired another blast at the United States.

The mercurial, 41-year-old Cambodian chief of state told newsmen the United States is aiding subversive elements in Cambodia.

He charged that Americans — backing a war against Communist rebels in neighboring South Viet Nam — planned and "are responsible for South Vietnamese air attacks on Cambodians in the frontier area. He declared the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency tried to instigate a coup against him in 1959."

26,000 Cut Classes In Cincinnati

More than 26,000 children cut classes Tuesday during a one-day boycott of Cincinnati public schools. Similar racial demonstrations in two other areas were curtailed or canceled because of snow.

The Cincinnati boycott went off peacefully as about 35 per cent of the city's 74,693 pupils stayed home. Normal absenteeism is 10 to 12 per cent.

Demonstrations there and in the Cambridge, Md., area were staged by Negro civil rights groups to protest what they described as de facto segregation of some public schools.

The boycotts followed the pattern of a massive New York demonstration Feb. 3 in which nearly half a million children skipped schools.

In Chester, Pa., a planned boycott was called off after a snowstorm had forced the closing of all schools. It was rescheduled for Thursday.

Library Aid Bill Signed By Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — A law that President Johnson signed Tuesday authorizes vast stepped-up federal aid for library services and offers new help for building libraries in populous rural areas as well as small towns.

Johnson, in affixing his signature to the $135-million three-year program, told a gathering at the White House there will be no occasion when he signs a bill with more pleasure.

He called it "an act of national achievement" toward a goal of placing good libraries within the reach of all people.

The expanded program will be carried out under a matching formula that takes into account the per capita income of each area allotted money.

State News Roundup

Ticket Racket Probe Urged

HARRISBURG (AP)—A legislative investigation of the Philadelphia Traffic Court was proposed in the House Monday.

A resolution calling for the probe by a five-member committee claimed that numerous residents throughout the state have received traffic violation tickets from Philadelphia on dates they were not in the city.

The sponsors said evidence indicates that the "widespread malpractice has mounted appalling" and that "threats of arrest, withholding of license renewal and similar acts involving what might be termed 'fear of reprisal' has forced many an innocent victim to unjustly pay his or her traffic fine."

The Justice Department said last week it already is looking into the situation and believes that it can be straightened out administratively without legislative action.

Non-Smokers Cost State Money

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Cigarette tax collections in Pennsylvania dropped $500,000 January, 1964 compared to a year ago, the state Revenue Department reported Tuesday.

The yield, eight cents on each pack sold, was $8.9 million compared to $9.4 million. One cent of the tax goes to pay for the Korean veteran bonus.

Department spokesmen, however, said tax collections for the past seven months, starting in July, 1963, have been running about $1 million behind budget estimates and thus can't attribute the cigarette tax drop in January to the recent report by the U. S. Surgeon General linking cancer to cigarette smoking.

State Backs Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Every member of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation, 12 Democrats and 14 Republicans, voted in favor of the civil rights bill which the House passed by a 290-130 vote Monday.

Pechan Urges Cigarette Probe

HARRISBURG (AP)—Senate Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, called for a legislative investigation Monday into the possibility making it illegal for minors to buy cigarettes.

Present law in Pennsylvania bans the sale of cigarettes to minors, but the penalty is on the seller, not the buyer.

The proposal called on the Joint State Government Commission to study the problem and make recommendations to the 1965 legislature.

The commission also was called upon to investigate the feasibility of consolidating local governments in Pennsylvania.

Senate Minority Leader Charles R. Weiner, D-Phila., suggested a new government structure divided into areas based on common interests and problems.

Both were referred to the Committee on Rules.

JFK Coins In Mint Now

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The first John F. Kennedy half dollars was struck Tuesday at the U.S. mints here and in Denver.

The Treasury Department will not begin circulating the coins until it feels sufficient have been made—probably in late March or early April. It plans to make 90 million this year.

The 50-cent piece will replace the Benjamin Franklin coin. The face will be engraved with the late President facing left. The word "liberty" will be on the border above the picture, with the date and the motto, "In God We Trust," below the picture. The presidential coat of arms will be on the reverse side.

The first coins are to be struck simultaneously at 11 a.m.

Storm Halts School Pickets

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI)—A snowstorm halted picketing Tuesday at six public schools by members of the Committee for Freedom Now (CFN) protesting segregation.

The pickets went to the school board administration building instead. There were no incidents.

The one-day boycott had been called by Stanley Branch CFN head, to protest not only segregation but "hand-me-down books" and poor facilities for Negro students.

One man was arrested and another was injured Monday night when the demonstrators staged a two-mile march on Chester police headquarters.

Highlights Of Gov. Scranton's Address To Assembly

HARRISBURG (AP)—Here are highlights of Gov. Scranton's address Tuesday to a special session of the General Assembly:

"Our commonwealth stands today on the threshold of glorious opportunity—but also under the shadow of grave danger. I have asked, therefore, that you meet in special session to consider questions of enormous importance to all our people."

"I have done so knowing full well that a special session of the General Assembly is not to be embarked upon lightly."

"I call for consideration of internal improvements that will tremendously enhance both the economic vigor and the quality of life that are available in Pennsylvania."

"... I stand here today in defense of the unemployed of this commonwealth."

"I seek champions to make the good fight for jobs, for prosperity, for hope and decency for the families of the unemployed."

"And I do not stand alone."

"I stand with the jobless Pennsylvanians who this week received unemployment checks."

"These are the people I stand with today, and we have two weapons with which we intend to fight."

"One is truth. The other is courage."

"We bear arms against a variety of antagonists."

"First, there are the sunshine patriots, who like to sound the slogans of industrial development, but who have no stomach for the hard realities."

"Next, there are the falsehoods, shot in the air like a thousand poison arrows in the hope that one or two might find a mark."

"Then there are the demagogues. Using the time-tested techniques of the big lie and the half-truth, they will, if given their way, lead Pennsylvania, but to another round of depression and unemployment."

"It is against these opponents that we stand armed with truth and courage."

"We seek not handouts, but jobs."

"Not unemployment checks, but paychecks."

"Not a bankrupt fund, but a healthy one."

"Not a never-never land where we all pretend there's nothing to worry about, but a fighting Pennsylvania, bringing plants and jobs into our state because we deserve to have them."

"A survey taken for Pennsylvania by an independent research organization makes one point very clear:

"Our unemployment compensation laws and the condition of our fund are listed by company after company as a major reason for choosing a state other than Pennsylvania for the location or expansion of industrial plants."

"That is a fact, and it stands as a hard reality despite any effort to sweep it under the rug."

"The Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Fund today totters near bankruptcy. We owe the federal government—for repayment of loans borrowed in 1958 and 1961—$31 million more than we have in the fund."

"Almost every day an industry tells us: 'Sorry, but somebody is going to have to pay through the nose to get Pennsylvania out of this mess. It's not going to be us. We're going to another state.'"

"And, so, we lose another plant."

"In the first place, this administration intends to mount with every resource at its command a campaign to acquaint the people of Pennsylvania with the true facts of this most serious question."

"The facts are on our side, and I happen to believe that the people of Pennsylvania are smart enough to understand them. I believe that in the long run the campaign already launched by our opposition is going to sink in its own falsehoods."

"Let my fellow politicians on both sides of this aisle consider what their position on this issue should be, not in terms of today's malicious campaign of deceit, but when the vast majority of Pennsylvanians becomes familiar with this question and demand to know which public officials took the road against Pennsylvania's best interest."

"The time for action is upon us and I summon you to mount a total attack on unemployment."

The Lenten Story

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

NOT BY BREAD ALONE

Lent begins today. The word is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "lencetan," meaning long. The period of the long fast, it commemorates Christ's 40 days of fasting in the desert in preparation for His death on the cross.

It was there, as Matthew tells us, that Satan tried to tempt Him.

"And when the tempter came to Him, He said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread."

"But He answered and said, It is written, Not by bread alone does man live, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." (Matthew IV, 3-4)

"An emergency call to my father—in some Montreal hospital"

The man knew neither the name, nor the address or telephone number of the hospital, nor of anyone who could supply them. All he did know was that his father had undergone surgery. And he was terribly anxious.

Could the Long Distance Operator help him? In minutes, Operator Kathryn Marinaro located both the hospital and his mother, who was staying with friends in Montreal. The surgery had been successful, and everything was fine.

Going out of their way to help is a tradition among Bell of Pennsylvania people. This true story is one small example. Whenever you pick up your phone, "The Spirit of Service" is there.

Monroe Science Fair March 19-20

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Science Fair will be held in the National Guard Armory in East Stroudsburg March 19 and 20. The Daily Record co-sponsors the annual affair in cooperation with county science teachers.

The fair provides an opportunity for county students to give practical expression to classroom science theory.

Any boy or girl presently enrolled in a senior or junior high school in the county may enter a project in the fair. Entries will be placed in either the senior or junior high school division.

Seven Divisions

The seven fields senior students may enter are:

Biology — exhibits concerned with nature study, plants, animals and bacteria.

Conservation — soil, minerals, water, wild life and forests.

Chemistry — dealing with chemical compounds, reactions and processes, household chemistry and synthetic products.

Earth and Space Science — including geology, meteorology, astronomy and space.

Engineering — practical applications of science in transportation, manufacturing, communication and aviation.

Human Biology — exhibits concerned with the human body and medicine.

Physics — including physics electronics and mathematics.

The junior high school division includes natural science, physical science and earth and space science.

The Science Fair Committee suggests these procedures for students planning to enter the fair.

Write down a list of projects of interest then discuss these projects with your school science teacher.

You need not have the biggest and most expensive project to win.

Originality, scientific thought, research, and thoroughness are the qualities the judges are looking for.

An Admissions Committee made up of county science teachers will pass on the admission of projects to the fair.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. Exhibitor's applications must be received before the deadline (March 11, 1964, 7 P.M.). Students who submit projects beyond the deadline will have their projects placed in a category marked UNCLASSIFIED — FOR EXHIBITION PURPOSES ONLY. These projects will not be judged.

2. Size limits for projects are: width, 36 inches; depth (front to back), 30 inches; height, 81 inches.

3. All projects must be self supporting. Those that do not stand alone will be barred from the Fair.

4. Make your exhibit strong and durable. Avoid loose, unattached parts; fasten everything to your exhibit. Protect valuable or fragile parts with glass or a screen.

5. Plan to keep your exhibit in working order during the Fair. Exhibits with moving parts should be checked often so that repairs may be made.

6. Only 120 volt alternating current will be provided. No exhibit may be operated which requires more than 10 amperes at 120 volts. Each 120 volt operated unit MUST be provided with a visible fuse not greater than 10 amperes, with eight to ten feet of cord, with the popular type of parallel plug and with 120 volt switches. Acceptable fuses are available from your science teacher at a nominal cost. (These fuses have been purchased by the Monroe County Science Fair for sale by your teacher to you.) Doorbell push buttons and open knife switches MAY NOT be used on 120 volt lines. All electrical circuits must be properly insulated and protected from contact by the public.

You must provide your own extension cord and plug. You may use a transformer; hook it up in such a way that it works only when the pushbutton switch is held down.

7. Dangerous chemicals in open containers, open flames, explosives, explosive gases, operating X-ray devices, and dangerous radiations are strictly prohibited.

8. All bacteria must be in sealed containers. All pathogenic bacteria are prohibited.

9. Living animals in exhibits must be properly cared for at all times. It is the exhibitor's responsibility to see that his animals are fed, watered, and that the cages are cleaned. He must also guard the animals from being handled by the public.

10. Poisonous animals and poisonous plants are absolutely prohibited.

11. Exhibits in the 1964 Fair must be constructed during the

Williams Elected Head Of Bar Assn.

STROUDSBURG — Arlington Williams was elected president of the Monroe County Bar Association at its annual meeting recently.

Other officers elected were George T. Robinson, vice president; Lois W. Mirandon, secretary, and Kennard Lewis, treasurer.

The executive committee consists of these officers, the immediate past president, Harold C. Edwards, and one additional member elected at the same meeting. This year the elected member is Elmer D. Christine.

Gessner Presents Science Paper

EAST STROUDSBURG — William Gessner, assistant professor of Physical Science at East Stroudsburg State College, presented a paper to the Lehigh Valley Science Study Council during a meeting held Monday at Muhlenberg College, Allentown.

Gessner's paper was in relation to a research study he has conducted in the Lehigh Valley area on the new state "Experience Centered Science Curriculum."

1963-1964 school year.

12. No student may enter more than one exhibit in the competition.

13. Exhibits made by two or more persons are not allowed.

14. Junior High School students taking senior high school science subjects must enter their projects in the senior high school division.

15. No projects may be removed before 10 p.m. Friday, March 20. Projects not removed by 12 noon, Saturday, March 21 will be dispensed with by the committee.

16. Commercial models are prohibited.

MORA Hears School Official

STROUDSBURG — Walter H. Sebring, assistant county school superintendent, addressed the Men of Retirement Age (MORA) Club on "School Re-Organization," Wednesday at the YMCA.

Sebring answered questions on "School Organization Laws and legislation during the meeting.

At other club business birthday honors went to Percy E. Marvin, past president of the club, Fred Lindner and Harry Strunk.

Also "Bon Voyage" was given to Mr. and Mrs. Ashton L. Burrows who are leaving for a Florida vacation.

Later, a letter from the club's foster child in Korea was read by Arthur M. Troegner. It was noted that on Feb. 12, the film "Pennsylvania, Keystone of the Nation" will be shown.

Paupack Board Okays Ways For Public To Use School

NEWFOUNDLAND — Regulations covering the use of the new Wallenpaupack Area Joint Junior-Senior High School on Lake Wallenpaupack by non-school groups were discussed and approved by the board of directors of the school recently.

It was noted that requests for the use of the auditorium, which seats more than 700 persons, and-or the gymnasium, a two-story structure, must be in writing and should be addressed to Maurice Bobst, supervising principal of the joint-ure.

Any approved non-school group using any part of the new school must submit either a $50 bond or a $50 certified check prior to the use of the facility as a guarantee of payment for any damage to school property. If there is no damage during the use of the building, the money will be refunded.

The bond or check should be submitted to Mr. Bobst one week prior to the use of the building.

Charitable groups using the facilities will pay to the Wallenpaupack Area Joint School a flat fee of $50 for use of either the auditorium or gymnasium for one function, to cover the minimum costs of power, light and heat.

Approved non-school groups which are basically profit-making organizations will pay the districts a flat fee of $50 plus ten percent of the gross receipts.

The building custodian will be reimbursed by the group leasing the building's use, in the amount of $12.50, and the lessee will be responsible for providing adequate and appropriate parking and police supervision, if necessary.

Lincoln On Integration

An advertisement appearing in The Daily Record, the New York Times and other newspapers yesterday correctly quoted speeches of Abraham Lincoln in which he said, among other things, "What I would most desire would be the separation of the white and black races."

The advertisement was ordered and paid for by the segregationist Citizens Councils of America in Jackson, Mississippi. It coincided with passage of the civil rights bill in the U. S. House of Representatives, and celebration of Lincoln's birthday today.

Some readers may argue that a newspaper should not accept such an advertisement from this racist, Ku Klux Klan-spirited organization. Our answer is that any citizen or organization has a right to express its opinion in this democracy. A newspaper is the major modern platform for the exercise of our right of free speech.

The quotations from Lincoln were factually accurate, but taken out of the context of his speeches and more important out of the context of history. But they can lead to a better understanding of Lincoln and his positions on slavery, the Negro and segregation.

Lincoln's senate campaign debate with Stephen A. Douglas in 1858, which contained the statement that he favored separation of white and black races, also contained his arguments against the Dred Scott decision by the Supreme Court which confirmed a master's property right over his slave.

In the same speech, Lincoln argued that slavery should not be extended to new American states or nationalized and that the Declaration of Independence applied to Negroes as well as whites. He said the slaves should be equal in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" but "perhaps not in many other respects."

In that senate campaign debate with Stephen A. Douglas, Lincoln also predicted that "A house divided against itself cannot stand. I believe that this government cannot endure permanently half slave and half free. It will become all one thing or all the other."

In another of the Douglas debates, Lincoln did say and is accurately quoted by the Citizens Councils that he was not in favor of "the social and political equality of the white and black races," nor in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes, nor in favor of their holding public office or intermarrying with white people.

Lincoln is usually put on such a high pedestal by those who favor Negro civil rights and integration of the races in the life of America that history is forgotten.

We forget that Lincoln was not an integrationist, but an abolitionist and lukewarm at that. He believed that slavery was inhuman and against the Declaration of Independence and he led the war which ended slavery in America.

But he was not the great freedom fighter we idolize today.

He did free the slaves and ask them to join Northern armies by his Emancipation Proclamation of 1863, but we forget that he explained that proclamation as "a fit and necessary war measure for suppressing said rebellion."

He said later in the proclamation that it was "sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the Constitution, upon military necessity..."

We cannot today quote Lincoln to prove the modern consensus that Negroes are entitled to all civil rights enjoyed by white men.

Lincoln was a liberal in his day, although he can be quoted by segregationists today to support their backward cause. He was a great humanitarian and statesman in his day, although he must be understood and praised in the context of history.

He wrote the first chapter in the history of the liberation of the Negro in America, just as John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King and the Congress have written new chapters recently.

Foreign Aid Disenchantment

The United States is not the only world power which has failed to make friends with foreign aid.

Russia and Red China have also discovered that you cannot buy a friend, and although a dollar earned is still less popular than a dollar given, many underdeveloped nations are slowly coming to the realization that local effort is the best way to achieve progress.

An article in the Far Eastern Economic Review, published in Hong Kong and reprinted in Atlas, an American magazine which translates the foreign press, outlines this mood of disenchantment in Southeast Asian nations:

"Southeast Asian nationalists ignorant of the realities of the economic process have become progressively disappointed with the failure of foreign aid, despite all its inconveniences and psychological restrictions, to promote economic growth.

"No longer can this be laid at the door of the Americans or the capitalists, because the same disappointment followed the entry into the field of the Russians, who offered something 'different' because it was 'socialist,' and the Chinese, who offered something 'different' because it was 'Asian.'"

"The realization must come that failure to develop is primarily one's own deficiency, one's own bundle of mistakes and naivetes and ineptitudes... Foreign aid has pampered too much perhaps."

Now that the post-World War II age of massive foreign aid is beginning to come to a close, the smaller, undeveloped nations will have to shoulder more and more of the burden of their own salvation.

The wealthy nations will still have to act as banker to the rest of the world, making development loans, and giving technical assistance where needed and constructively used.

But both the giver and the receiver nations are becoming more prudent in their gifts and their acceptances as they become aware that progress and friendship cannot be bought.

Comment Of The Day

"While President Johnson seems to be more effective as a political manipulator in getting legislation through Congress, he lacks the idealism and sense of purpose which the world expects from the President of the United States and which both President Eisenhower and President Kennedy were able to project.

"The new international dart game is to hang a world map on the wall and try to hit a spot where the United States is not being kicked around, insulated, blackmailed or threatened."

—Richard Nixon, former vice president, in an attack on President Johnson's foreign policy leadership.

Realm Of Stamps

By Ray Patton

Canada's new seven-cent regular Air Mail issue will be released March 11 and will be printed in blue. This stamp was designed primarily for air mail letters to the United States.

The design shows a modern Inter-city jet aircraft taking off from a Canadian airport. The design of the jet is composite not representing any particular plane.

The United States will issue the four-cent commemorative postal card for the 175th year of the Customs Bureau Feb. 22 at Washington, D.C. The five-cent Charles Russell painting commemorative will have first day sale at Great Falls, Montana, March 19. This painting issue will show a cowboy roping a steer and will be printed in brown, blue and yellow.

The United Nations new 50-cent stamp has been scheduled for March 6. This issue was designed by Hatim El Mekki of Tunisia and has the same basic design as the five-cent embossed envelope.

The background will be bluish grey and the globe divided into colors of green, yellow, red, blue, orange, grey, purple and maroon.

Club News

The Monroe Stamp Club will meet Wednesday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m. The junior members are reminded that they will be in charge of the March 4 meeting.

The club will conduct its third "Stamp Class" starting after Easter.

These meetings are held on Friday evenings from 7:45 to 9 p.m. Those desiring more information may contact Ray Patton any evening after 7:30 p.m.

Members please keep in mind our rummage sale and remember we can use anything and everything.

Gene Brown About Town

Insurmountable Obstacle

A railroad gang was working on a track that ran alongside a golf course. They were intrigued by the game and saw a golfer knock the ball into a rut and have a hard time getting it out. Then he got into a sand trap and had another rough go getting out. Finally he got a good shot and the ball trickled into the cup.

An Irish laborer shouted sympathetically, "Now, Mister, you're in real trouble."

Postponed Power

Organizations are being formed for men over 65. It is believed that there is a reservoir of untapped brain-power in men of that age. Oliver Wendell Holmes, in his own ripe old age, exclaimed, "The subtle nature of a postponed power."

The Guantanamo Naval Base

Our Own Winter Olympics

The Pennsylvania Story

Now Record Conscious

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — The "record" is the all-important item this year.

In almost every sense it is most unfortunate that this single factor should be such an influencing factor in what lawmakers of the Keystone State do — or do not do — during this year's legislative sessions.

The reason the "record" is so important is that as happens every two years, all members of the State House of Representatives (209 of 'em) are up for refilling or replacement — this is the year they go to the line.

The "record" they have to talk about back home. In most instances, becomes the determining factor on whether they will be returned to Capitol Hill for another two-year stint, or whether they will return to their previous vocational places.

The test of the record will come during the progress of the regular 1964 legislative gathering which has been under way since early January, and the special legislative session which started yesterday running concurrently with the regular session.

Inasmuch as all 209 seats in the House will be on the auction block in the primaries April 28 and the fall general election, any member seeking a return to the lower chamber will have little choice other than to be extremely watchful of his moves here on Capitol Hill during the two sessions.

How he votes or the stand he takes become critical this year.

This same cat-and-mouse project goes on every two years. In fact when you come right down to it, members of the House, whose terms run for only two years, find themselves involved in an almost continual campaign!

On the other hand, with members of the State Senate, terms run not for two but four years — with half of the 50-man Senate up for consideration every two years.

The four-year term for members of the House seemingly makes much sense; in fact legislation that would provide such a four-year term instead of the present two-year term has been introduced in this session.

However to place such a plan into effect isn't just as simple as passing a piece of legislation.

The move requires an amendment to the State Constitution — which means clearances by two consecutive sessions of the Legislature and then finally, approval (or rejection) by the electorate of the state as a whole.

No one has given much thought to the four-year term proposal that has been introduced this year — and at this point there seems little likelihood that any serious thought will be forthcoming; that is, enough to bring it to a head, or a vote.

The four-year term for House members, similar to that of their counterparts on the Senate side, has considerable merit and should at least be given the opportunity of coming before the voters of the state for their final determination.

Legislation now introduced is at least a start.

Dry Before Castro

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON—We're vexed with Cuba's Fidel Castro for cutting off our water. We should be philosophic about it by now. It's been done to us for years by soft drink and beer concessionaires at ball parks, arenas and theaters.

There have been occasions when thousands of us would have liked to do something retributive to a concessionaire for cutting off our water, but I don't think any of us ever did. Leastwise I never heard of massive, or even unmassive, retaliation against anybody for cutting off our water.

When all you craved was a drink of plain cold water, and couldn't find a drop in the whole vast stadium after falling over hundreds of importunate beer butchers, you might have voiced a wish for a hydrogen bomb to blow up the place, but this was just talk.

If you'd gone to the game with an atomic warhead in your nose you'd probably just have rattled it threateningly a few times, and soothed yourself with a sarsaparilla.

Castro's explanation is that he cut off our water at our Guantanamo Bay Naval Base because we impounded four Cuban fishing vessels and 38 Cuban fishermen for illegally fishing in our territorial waters off the coast of Florida. When you come right down to it, he seems to have more provocation than our beer butchers. They cut off your water although you may never have impounded a single one of their fishermen.

This is not to be construed as an argument for going soft on Castro because the more toleration we extend to that cut-up the more he'll bend us in our debt, and he certainly has the hand for it. However, this time he seems to have a little something on his side.

comprises 33 square miles. For this we pay Cuba an annual rent of $3600. I know catch-a-catch-can influence - peddlers in this town, with desk space in somebody else's office, who pay that much rent for 33 square inches.

Thirty - three square miles at $3600 works out to $109.09 rental a square mile. You couldn't rent a square mile of the LBJ Ranch for that, even if you promised to improve it with fence - to - fence carpeting.

Possibly if we upped the Guantanamo rent, say to a nice round figure like $110 a square mile, we might look more generous in this water fight with Castro. If this doesn't mollify him — and he seems to have inoculated himself against American mollification — we should give some thought to cutting off his water too by cutting off everything that comes to him by water.

We could give it to him straight, with a water chaser. We seem to get embroiled in crises for the most inconsequential things. Cuban fishermen get caught poaching and we're in a water crisis. Some kids fly an American flag in Panama and we're in a canal crisis.

A little dame shoots off her mouth too much and we're in a Vietnam crisis.

It's too bad we can't take anti-crisis shots. They might ward off hydrophobia.

In downtown Washington there's a book store in two sections. Each section has a separate street entrance. There's no inside connection. To get from one section to the other, a customer or clerk has to go out one street door to the sidewalk and in the other street door.

One section of the store sells textbooks; the other section pornography. But-----

The street door to the textbook section is kept locked. The door to the pornography section is unlocked.

If a customer in the pornography section asks for a textbook, the clerk has to get a key and go out and unlock the textbook section.

Wisdom apparently has to be guarded more than sex.

More Changes

WASHINGTON — The Democratic National Committee is undergoing a full - scale face - lifting — from Kennedy to Johnson control.

This significant change-over is being made quietly and piecemeal, without fanfare, but with a steady succession of re-placements. The President is leaning over backwards to retain the friendship and support of Kennedy partisans. At the same time, recasting of the national committee "in the Johnson image" is moving ahead without let - up.

By September, when the national campaign gets underway, all key places will have been filled by the President's personal selections. He will fight for election wholly with his own organization.

Major changes that already have taken place and others in the offing are:

Chairman John Bailey will stay through the nominating convention in late August, chiefly because he is widely known in party circles and presents no problems. He lacks vigor and drive, and does little beyond filling the office. On the other hand, he causes no trouble and does whatever is asked of him. What happens to Bailey after the Atlantic City convention depends on the political situation at that time. He may be kept a while longer, or be replaced.

Treasurer Richard Maguire is slated to depart next month after the big February 27 fundraising dinner in Miami. This long - time close lieutenant of the late President gets along cordially with Johnson, but both feel this all - important place should be filled by the President's own man. White House insiders say a likely choice is Erle Coker, World Bank official and strong 1960 Johnson supporter.

Clifton Carter, long - time Texas intimate of the President, who is taking over the desk and reins of Stephen Smith, brother-in-law of the late President. Under Kennedy Smith was the real boss of the National Committee, and Carter will fill the same role for Johnson. Unassuming, able and completely devoted to the President, Carter is a perfect choice for this backstage function.

William Brawley, assistant to the chairman, is busy pulling wires for appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission. There are two vacancies on the agency, and the South Carolinian is eagerly trying to land one. Brawley was put in the national committee after being dropped as Deputy Postmaster General following a clash with former Postmaster General Edward Day. Brawley hoped to get his old job back from Johnson, but he is promoting Assistant Postmaster General Frederick Belen to that No. 2 place. So Brawley is after one of the ICC plums.

Other Changes — Also on the exit list are two lesser known but one-time influential Kennedy partisans — both from Wisconsin.

They are Paul Corbin, with the title of special assistant to the chairman, and Jerry Bruno, who acted as advance man for the late President. Corbin is deemed particularly close to Attorney General Robert Kennedy; within the national committee Corbin is considered "Bobby's man." He is credited with engineering the appointment of Postmaster General John Gronouski, a fellow Wisconsinite.

Corbin is anxious to stay on, but the odds appear against him. Bruno is returning to his home state to re-enter private business.

Stepping into one of these places is James Blundell, Dallas, representative of one of the big aircraft corporations. He has a publicity background, and the inside word is his special job will be to pep up the committee's press activities. They need it.

Lawrence O'Brien, long-time Kennedy lieutenant and hold-over chief White House liaison with Congress, will shift to the national committee, probably to take over the bumbling Speaker's Bureau. O'Brien and President Johnson get along very well; the President rates him highly and wants him in the fall campaign. That suits O'Brien, and he has agreed to it.

But two other close assistants of the late President are leaving — John McNalley and Carmine Bellino. Both were on an intimate basis with him. McNalley handled Kennedy's travel arrangements. Bellino took care of confidential missions. During the 1960 campaign he was always at the Democratic standard - bearer's side with a locked and chained brief - case — that reputedly had a lot of explosive ammunition ready and waiting in the event the Republican candidate resorted to certain charges.

The brief - case was never used, but Bellino always had it on hand.

Both he and McNalley are departing of their own volition. President Johnson wanted them to stay, but they are calling it quits.

Dear Abby

Right Advice

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and, after three years of marriage, am proudly awaiting the birth of my first child in June. My mother is expecting around the same time. The problem is Mom. She is 40, unmarried and mad at the world. In her case there's no chance of marriage. She gets angry with me when I show any signs of happiness over the baby. I feel guilty even mentioning it because she's so miserable about her condition. I'm so happy about mine. Mom has lived with us since our marriage. She's been self-supporting but will have to quit work soon. My friends and relatives have given me baby showers but they treat Mom like an outcast. She feels so bitter and left out. I told her she ought to go to a Home For Unwed Mothers, but she says, at her age, she'd feel foolish with all those young girls. What should Mom do?

baggage truck down the street and got lost. He pulled a little boy out from the path of an oncoming car right in front of my house one day. He caught our runaway dog and held him until the boys got there with the leash. He's paid my postage due mail out of his own pocket when I had no change. (I repaid him.) He has walked through sprinklers to get to my mailbox. Sure I love him. Who wouldn't? But a great affair we would never have. He has four children and I have seven. Besides, he doesn't have time for it, and neither do I.

Mrs. P.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something we hope you will settle for us. When Christmas cards come trailing in a day or two AFT-ER Christmas (and some of you think it proves that the senders really didn't intend to send you one, but after getting one from you they felt cheap and tried to make up for it? I do. And I think those people should be dropped from our Christmas card list next year. My husband says that some people are just "behind with their cards, and it shouldn't matter when their cards get there, as long as they do. Well?

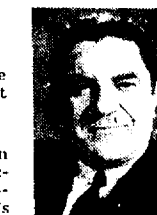

MR. AND MRS.

DEAR MR. AND MRS.: I agree with your husband. Better late than to be ignored. And who counts?

DEAR WORRIED: She should go to a Home For Unwed Mothers. If misery loves company, she'll have plenty of company her own age — and even older. I will send her a list of Homes in her area immediately on request. She may use her correct name without fear or embarrassment. All inquiries are strictly confidential. Good luck!

Speaking Of Your Health:

Auto Exhaust Causes Crashes

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Intoxication is the cause of many severe automobile accidents. But the intoxication may not always be due to excess alcohol. Carbon monoxide gas is an intoxicant that has come up for serious investigation by a group of British students of toxicology.

At the London Hospital Medical College, a group of scientists headed by Dr. Joan Horden, have been studying the concentration of carbon monoxide that routinely seeps into an automobile and dulls the senses and reflex driving action.

Dr. Horden and her associates emphasize that even small amounts of carbon monoxide gas produce changes in the respiratory system, the oxygen content of the blood and the blood supply to the brain.

Sensitive Detectors

New sensitive instruments and various chemicals were used to detect evidences of carbon monoxide in the car.

Detailed tests were carried out under conditions which exactly duplicated those that would be likely to occur in an automobile.

The mechanical condition of the car, the use of the heater, the number of open windows, the number of passengers, driving time, weather changes... all these factors entered into the evaluation of the carbon monoxide content in the car.

All Areas Checked

During the course of this study, samples of air were taken from various parts of the automobile... at the steering wheel, above the driver's head, at the pedals. The quantities were carefully calculated.

These scientific investigators found that the heater may be a great offender because it can draw its air supply from areas close to the automobile exhaust and thus contaminate the interior of the car.

Another area of potential contamination is the car trunk, or "boot" as it is called in England.

Recommendations Made

Specific recommendations were made for the protection of drivers and passengers. All exhaust lines should be checked regularly and kept in top performing condition. Faulty exhaust lines and mal-functioning pipes for intake of air must be replaced.

Proper ventilation of the car is imperative. Open windows at frequent intervals to refresh the interior of the car.

Safety precautions against intoxication, whether by alcohol or carbon monoxide gas, or by a combination of both, will preserve the health and often the lives of drivers, passengers and pedestrians.

Frantz Files Complaint Against SU Board

STROUDSBURG — A petition seeking an injunction to restrain the Stroud Union School District Board from enforcing a board resolution denying married students the right to play on athletic teams was filed yesterday in The Monroe County Court of Common Pleas.

The complaint was signed by George L. Frantz of 1801 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, on behalf of his minor son, Frederick L., a married senior student at Stroud Union.

It was filed by Frantz' counsel, Lee B. Kochler of East Stroudsburg, and served on Atty. Edward Williams of Stroudsburg, school board solicitor.

The petition requires the board to file an answer to the complaint in 20 days.

On Dec. 18, 1963, the school board passed a resolution which states:

"That married students attending high school be permitted to attend classes to earn credits for graduation but that they be denied the privilege of participating in activities in which there is public performance involved or in which the students act in the name of the school."

The petition states in addition to being unconstitutional as it applies to Frantz, the resolution also denies Frantz the benefit of a full education.

It says Frantz and his father told the high school principal on Dec. 3, 1962 that he was married. They were told the administration would advise them over the school's Christmas vacation of its decision on the matter.

According to the complaint they were never so advised and Frantz was permitted to play on the varsity baseball team during the spring of 1962 and on the varsity football team in the fall of 1963.

"This lead Frantz to believe he would be allowed to play baseball during the spring of 1964," according to the petition.

Denying Frantz the right to play baseball would do "irreparable harm" because he plans to become a physical education teacher or a professional.

Lincoln Day Dinner Tomorrow

STROUDSBURG — U. S. Senator Hugh Scott will be the principal speaker at the annual Lincoln Day Dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg, tomorrow night.

Sen. Scott is a 22-year veteran in the congressional ranks, with 16 years as U. S. Representative prior to his 1958 election to the senate.

In addition to his official duties during his tenure as a public servant, Scott has endeavored to bring political issues and views to the people he serves.

He has authored numerous books and magazine articles and has appeared regularly on television and radio with Senator Joseph Clark, D-Pa., to discuss current political policies.

The holder of many academic degrees, Sen. Scott has been the recipient of numerous "Man of the Year" awards from various civic organizations and service clubs.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Scott stated Monday night in Philadelphia that he is "proud of the things that I have been able to accomplish and aware that much still remains to be done." Scott has been the author or co-author of 10 major pieces of legislation which are now law.

Introducing Scott tomorrow night will be State Sen. William Z. Scott of Lansford, also a veteran of more than 20 years of public service.

A special feature of this year's Lincoln Day Dinner will be a musical salute to Lincoln by the Pocono Community Chorus, under the direction of Richard Manheim.

Descriptive narrations about the musical tribute will be spoken by Robert Williams, professor of speech at East Stroudsburg State College.

Tickets for the event may be purchased at Kresge Drug Store, East Stroudsburg; E. A. Bell Insurance Co., Stroudsburg; or from any member of the Republican Executive Committee of Monroe County, sponsor of the dinner.

Coin Club Meets Tonight

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Coin Club will meet at 8 p.m., today at the YMCA. Since this meeting falls on Lincoln's Birthday, the theme will be the Lincoln cent. Members are asked to bring Lincolns for display.

The petition states the resolution is illegal because it:

Constitutes an arbitrary and capricious regulation without any reasonable basis in point of fact or law for its passage.

Is discriminatory in that it deprives and precluded married students from participating in numerous activities in which they would otherwise be permitted to take part in were they not married.

Is contrary to public policy.

Is contrary to the Public School Code in that it denies a married student a full and complete education.

The complaint asks:

That the court decree the resolution as being illegal and void.

That the court issue an injunction, preliminary until final hearing and perpetual thereafter, restraining and strictly enjoining the board from carrying into effect the resolution.

The board be enjoined and restrained from prohibiting Frantz by virtue of the resolution from fully participating on the high school interscholastic baseball team during the spring of 1964.

Court Sets Aside Costs To Trooper

STROUDSBURG — President Judge Fred W. Davis in a rare move yesterday set aside a jury's verdict which sentenced a Pennsylvania State Trooper to pay half of the court costs of a trial the trooper prosecuted.

Monday a jury ordered trooper Homer Jones of Mt. Pocono to pay the money when the defendant Levi Kessler of Gouldsboro was found not guilty in a hit and run trial.

Davis upheld the jury's order directing Kessler to pay the other half of the costs.

The judge said Jones' part of the costs will be paid by Monroe County. The total cost of the trial amounted to $139.75.

In commenting on the case, Davis said in reviewing the evidence he found ample evidence for a conviction and there was no evidence of bad faith on part of the police officer.

Kessler had been tried for leaving the scene of an accident he was involved in when his car hit another car on Rt. 611 about two miles south of Mt. Pocono.

Trial Opens In Suit For Damages

STROUDSBURG — A jury of seven women and five men was empaneled in Monroe County Civil Court yesterday to hear a New York City woman's suit to recover money for damages she incurred while a guest at Strickland's Inn in Swiftwater.

The trespass suit alleges Mrs. Fannie Mandese incurred injuries when she slipped and fell on a bath mat at Strickland's Inn July 29, 1963.

Mrs. Mandese says she fell and hit the side of a bath tub and injured her ribs and lower spine. She is being represented by Atty. Maxwell H. Cohen of Stroudsburg. The Stroudsburg law firm of Robinson and Hoffner represents Strickland's.

NAACP To Hear Student

STROUDSBURG — A college student who has worked intensively on the problem of registering Negroes to vote in Mississippi will speak at a meeting of the local chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, Friday, at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA.

Jesse Lynch, local NAACP president, said the public is invited to attend the meeting.

Sam Block, a member of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, an organization primarily concerned with the problem of Negro voter registration in the deep south, will also speak today at East Stroudsburg State College.

Lynch also said the local NAACP will hold its regular meeting Thursday, Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in the YMCA.

The executive committee will meet this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Alice Patterson on Foxtown Hill.

Public Assistance Outlay Compared

(Special to the Record)

NEW YORK — The Government has just released in the first report of the kind it has ever issued, data on the amount of money being spent in Monroe County for public aid.

The number of people receiving such assistance, as well as the amount they get each month, are detailed for the local area and for every other part of the country.

The report, entitled "Public Assistance in the Counties of the United States," is from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It shows, for the country as a whole, that the declining rural area are the ones with the greatest proportion of people requiring assistance. However, the average payments are lowest in those very areas. It finds the highest are to families and individuals in the far west, the west central region and the industrial northeast.

In proportion to population, there are fewer residents of Monroe County receiving old-age assistance, which is a major type of aid, than in many sections of the country.

Recipients of such relief, which goes to needy persons over age 65, number 188 locally. It is at the rate of 43 per 1,000 men and women in that age group. This compares with the United States rate of 148 per 1,000.

The average amount they receive per month is $64 locally.

Assistance is also provided to needy families with dependent children under the age of 18. Of the 12,539 children under 18 in Monroe County, aid is required for 276 of them.

$27 Month Average

An average of $27 a month is provided for each dependent.

The remaining category covered in the report relates to permanently and totally disabled people in the 18 to 63 group.

Of the 22,667 people locally in that age span, only 57 are receiving aid, the average payment being $56 per month.

The grand total being paid to local beneficiaries each month, under these programs, is estimated at $22,700.

The Government points out in the report that there is a wide range, as between one area and another, in the amount of aid granted through these Federal-aid programs.

It states that it is dependent upon local economic and social conditions.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Among our way-faring friends are the Montgomery F. Crowes who had some exciting adventures in Phoenix, where they had gone to escape winter's chill. Except it got down to 18 degrees some nights, they report, although no snow.

They seem to have run right into a crime wave. A boy was shot in a gun duel with the police, and a man was murdered in their hotel right around the corner from their room. The murder made some headlines in the local paper which they included in their letter. No wonder the Crowes have flown on to Tucson.

However, they were there for the PGA Phoenix Open, although they were disappointed for Art Wall, who didn't do very well. But speaking of golf, local polar bear enthusiasts were out in force on the Glen Brook course on Sunday.

"No snow on the course," they pointed out truthfully enough, but there was plenty of winter wind which didn't deter one intrepid forerunner, including Larry Brown, from playing 17 holes. Here!

Not Brri! but Hurrri! for the Paradise Community Center who saw fit to honor Scoutmaster Carl Hamblin, publicly, for his 25 years in the service of Scouting. Too often a sponsoring organization thinks it has done its duty when it has high-pressed a man into taking over the leadership of a troop, and are so surprised when he drops out in sheer exhaustion at having to do the whole job single-handed.

Anyway, it's nice when people say "thank you." I know. Despite the cold I've been going around with a nice warm feeling just because some people who's opinion I value were thoughtful enough to write what they'd been thinking.

Crusaders Plan Dawn Service, Egg Hunt

Bartonsville — The Crusaders of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School met at the parish house on Feb. 7. Presiding was Robert H. Field.

Mrs. Robert Field Jr. played piano accompaniment for a hymn sing; Mrs. Verdon Frailley read the scripture and Pastor Robert Zuch spoke on "Thoughts Concerning Jesus on the Cross."

Tentative plans were made to hold the Easter dawn service on Hawkshill. If impossible to hold the service there because of weather conditions it will be moved to St. John's Church. Committees appointed were: program, Ruth Dunbar and Emma Dunbar; chairs, John Alieger; other properties, Robert Field; amplifying system, Floyd Cyphers. Ushers appointed were John Field, Richard Olman, Barry Bond and James Possinger.

March 28 at 2 p.m. was set as the time for the annual Easter egg hunt. Committee in charge will be Thelma Field and Millie Alieger. They will be assisted by members of the Senior class of the church school. Sarah Jane Cyphers and Joanne Dunbar will purchase prizes.

Refreshments were served by Pauline Cyphers and Frances Frailley. Decorations were in the Valentine motif with a centerpiece of red roses.

Aid To Quilt

Newfoundland — The Moravian Ladies Aid will meet for quilting at the home of Mrs. Robert Beehn, on Thursday. Any business the group has to consider will also be taken up during that time, with Mrs. Hannah Ro-backer presiding.

Community Cites Hamblin For 25 Years Of Scouting

Swiftwater — Carl Hamblin of Swiftwater was honored on Boy Scout Sunday by the Paradise Community Center when he was presented with a desk set in recognition of his 25 years in the service of Scouting.

With Troop 95 and his two assistants, Hamblin attended services at the Swiftwater Methodist Church.

He was surprised to find the service centering around the Boy Scout Troop, and even more surprised when Rev. Thomas Cenken called on Eagle Scouts Alex Whitlow and Richard Leiss to escort Hamblin to the front of the church. Life Scout Wayne Curnoles escorted Mrs. Hamblin to join them. There Mrs. David Nelson presented Hamblin with the desk set and George Curnales presented Mrs. Hamblin with a corsage.

Adjourning to the Paradise Community Center, the group enjoyed a buffet lunch served by Mrs. Mervin Fontanella and her committee.

Legion Aux. Numbers 216 Members

East Stroudsburg — The Aux. to George N. Kemp Post, American Legion, now numbers 216 paid members, it was announced by Mrs. Victor Koch, membership chairman at the February meeting held at the post home.

Mrs. O. Cole reported on the coupon program, urging members to bring them to the next meeting.

Letters were read from veterans and their families who had been remembered at Christmas and a note of thanks from the unit's adopted boy at Scotland School.

Award medals for the outstanding eighth grade girls in the local schools were ordered. It was announced that a TB Bond had been purchased.

Olin Hagerty, commander of the local Legion and his two vice commanders appeared before the meeting to discuss a general plan of working together for the two organizations. He announced an auction on Feb. 20 and asked members with clothing, furniture or other salable articles to donate to call him.

Poppies, the annual carnival, a trip to the Worlds Fair and the 30th District Convention were also discussed. A Four County Council meeting in Cata-sauqua was announced for March.

The executive committee of the local unit, including all officers and committee chairmen were urged to attend a meeting on Thursday, Feb. 20 at 7:30. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clarence Plattenburg, Mrs. A. Reisenwitz and their committee.

Mrs. Armitage Is Feted At Stork Shower

East Stroudsburg — A stork shower was given in honor of Mrs. Ronnie Armitage by Mrs. Lois Brink and Mrs. Betty Brands. Gifts in front of the fireplace were guarded by a stork. A cake baked in the form of a cradle formed the centerpiece for the table.

Prizes were won by Emma Mader, Ann Dixon and Bonnie Brands. Attending were Mrs. Dorothy Armitage, Mrs. Harry Armitage, Bonnie Brands, Mrs. Gertrude Armitage, Mrs. Lois Brink, Mrs. Betty Brands, Mrs. Virginia Klass, Mrs. John Powell, Mrs. Anna Mae LaBadie, Mrs. Mary Bachman, Mrs. Emma Mader, Mrs. Sara Wright, Mrs. Walter Lee, Mrs. Laura Plattenburg, Joan Plattenburg, John Briggs, Ann Dixon, Mrs. Margaret Hartman, Mrs. Lawrence Musselman, Mrs. James Brands.

Blue, Gold Banquet For Area Cubs

Tannersville — The Blue and Gold Banquet climaxing Boy Scout Week in Tannersville area was held by Cub Scout Pack 85, sponsored by the Pocono Twp. Fire Co.

The banquet was served by the Cadet Girl Scouts of Troop 316 of Tannersville under the leadership of Mrs. Marlin Likewise. Decorations included blue and gold streamers, balloons and flags.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Dodd and family. Dodd is Scoutmaster of Troop 85, Tannersville.

Entertainment was provided by Paul Drury of the Department of Forest and Waters who showed two films on Forestry: "Rainbow Valley," and "Out of the Pan into the Fire."

Dr. E. T. Horn showed slides of last year's banquet and of the Cub Scout Circus held in June 1963.

Smokey the Bear appeared in person to surprise the boys while they were singing his theme song and presented them with Smokey books.

A large cake with 54 candles, 31 blue candles for Cub Scouting and 23 yellow candles for Boy Scouting, was lighted as they sang the birthday song.

Service stars were awarded to the following boys: Gregory Carrier, John Campo, Leon Frailley, Charles Getz, Barry Hartshorn, Danny Johnson, Dean Hallett, Michael Likewise, Ricky Hasley, Barry Segar, Mark Wallingford, Terry Martin, Gregory Peechatka, Jack Rader, Mark Robbins, Jonathan Van Seiver, Robert Wallingford, Barry London, Chris Mosteller, Douglas Learn and Randy Miller.

Three year service stars were awarded: Paul Drury, Russell Horn, Randy Kresge, Gregory Wallingford, Linsey Price, Donald Robbins, Dennis Schmoeyer, and Mitchell Wisse.

Each Cub also received a Cub Scout pocket piece and a gold eagle wall plaque.

Leaders awarded service stars included Mrs. Cecile London, Mrs. Joyce Robbins, Mrs. Dore Hallett, Mrs. Marie Campo and Joseph Carrier.

Community Chorus To Honor Lincoln

Stroudsburg — The Pocono Community Chorus will sing at the Lincoln Day Dinner to be held on Feb. 13 at the Penn-Stroud Hotel when Sen. Hugh Scott will be the speaker.

They have selected four numbers to honor Lincoln: "This Is My Country," "Climb Every Mountain," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Richard Manheim is directing the chorus during a leave of absence granted Mrs. Norma Bible.

Pocono Community Chorus rehearses each Monday night at 7:30 at the Wyckoff Building on Sixth St., Stroudsburg, and their membership is open to anyone interested in singing.

County Home Birthday Party

Miss Wohlfart placed highest in a test on the various phases of homemaking, taken by the senior class at the local school.

Diocesan Convention Plans Made

Mount Pocono — The convention committee of the Monroe-Pike Deane-ry of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women at their meeting Friday night at the Bartonsville Hotel completed plans for the convention to be held April 11 at Pocono Catholic Missions. The Monroe Pike Deane-ry will be hosts.

Mrs. Theodore Schultz, deanery president, is general chairman. About 600 women from the Scranton area are expected.

At the meeting, there were committee members present from Milford, Matamoras, Brodheads-ville, Tannersville, Canadensis, Pocono Lake and Mount Pocono. They brought in progress reports.

There will be "God's Plan for Us." There will be a business session in the morning, dinner, entertainment and guest speakers and will close with Benediction to be celebrated in St. Mary of the Mount Church about 4 p.m.

New School Seeks New PTATie-Up

Newfoundland — The Southern Wayne Parent Teacher Association has received an invitation from the Wallenpaupack Area Joint School Parent Teachers Assn. to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. on Feb. 24 at the new school on Lake Wallenpaupack.

The Southern Wayne unit includes parents of students from Greene and Dreher Townships. The Wallenpaupack organization is formed from parents and teachers of students from the other seven districts of the jointure. Both now share a common interest: students in the joint junior-senior high school which opened last week.

Local members and parents who wish to attend the meeting should contact Elmer Becker, president of the Southern Wayne PTA, before February 15, so that arrangements may be made with the refreshment committee.

The regular meeting of the local PTA will take place on the following night, Feb. 25, at the school in Newfoundland. Speakers will be John Sutton, Assistant Wayne County Superintendent of Schools, whose topic will be "Our School Tax Dollar."

The PTA heard Camille Poetsch, Swiss exchange student sponsored by the Rotary Club, speak on the history, government and school system of her country, during the recent meeting of the group at the school.

War Games Enliven Sixth Birthday Party

Delaware Water Gap — Bradley Kaiser's sixth birthday was a rootin', tootin' affair as he and his guests shared the toy rifles, revolvers and ray guns he had received as gifts.

Two - gun men making use of the arsenal included his cousins, Scott and Vickie Taylor and his younger sisters, Rebecca and Vanessa. During an armistice, refreshments were served. Joining were his sister, Valerie; his cousin Jill; his grandmother, Mrs. Edward Matthews Sr.; his aunt, Mrs. Rodney Taylor; Mrs. George Court; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kaiser, and Miss Nellie Burd.

Mrs. Messerle Again Heads Fire Co. Aux.

Bushkill — Mrs. Louis Messerle was re-elected president of the Ladies Aux. of the Bushkill Volunteer Fire Co., at their recent meeting. Other officers elected were Mrs. Carl Van Why, vice president; Mrs. R. Ivan Michaels, secretary; Mrs. Andrew Lewis, treasurer.

The date of Feb. 29 was chosen for the Leap Year Square Dance. Mrs. Arthur Meyers is general chairman; Mrs. Carl Van Why in charge of music and caller; Mrs. Albert Smith Jr., of advertising; Mrs. Alfred Armit, cakes; and Mrs. Freda Dickinson, refreshments. The refreshments will include pizza, barbecues, hot dogs, soda and coffee.

The question of what to do about the floors in the firehouse was tabled until a later date. Mrs. R. Ivan Michaels and Mrs. Carl Van Why were hostesses.

Sadie Hawkins Leap Year Dance At Stroud Union

Stroudsburg — A Sadie Hawkins dance on Feb. 20 has been announced by the Senior Class of Stroud Union High School. The dance is open to students from grades 9 through 12 and will be held in the school gymnasium from 8 to 11 p.m.

Since this is Leap Year, the girls will invite the boys. Dress will be in the Sadie Hawkins tradition, which the committee warns means traditional but not extreme.

No admission will be charged but donations will be accepted.

Local Teens May Vie For Fashion Model Experience

New York — It was announced today this Deanne Dailey, merchandiser coordinator of Seventeen magazine will be in Stroudsburg Friday evening, March 6th, to participate in a fashion show at the Keystone Room of Wyckoff's, in which teen-age girls desirous of careers in fashion modeling will participate.

Wyckoff's is tying in with Seventeen magazine as one of 300 major stores across the country in search of 10 girls who will be entertained for a week in New York, and will be photographed for the fashion pages and possibly the cover of the magazine.

Any teen-age girl from 13 to 19 years of age, measuring 5'3" to 5'8" who has never been married, is invited to enter. Applications are available upon request in any fashion department on the second floor of Wyckoff's, and must be returned to the store by February 29th, complete with all information, the signed approval of parent or guardian and two 5x7" photographs: one a portrait study; the other a full-length shot showing the silhouette. No full-length picture is acceptable if the subject is wearing a bulky dress or topcoat.

Seventeen magazine does much to advance the careers of many young writers, models, and those interested in the various facets of retailing. Miss Dailey's duties range from editing three monthly bulletins on merchandise advertised and featured in the teen publication to commenting on fashion shows for teens across the nation. The bulletins, which includes sketches, style and price information, display and copy ideas, are designed to keep stores and buying offices informed on the merchandise currently appearing in Seventeen.

Miss Dailey attended Indiana University for two years and was graduated from the Tobecoburn School for Fashion Careers in New York where she majored in fashion merchandising and promotion. As part of her training at Tobecoburn she worked as an assistant buyer at Abraham & Straus, Brooklyn, and in sales at Saks Fifth Avenue, New York. She also held summer sales positions with Sears, Roebuck and Company's Annapolis, Md., and Evansville, Ind., stores and was on the College Board at Schultz's in Evansville. A native of Evansville, Miss Dailey now resides in New York City. In her spare time, she enjoys riding, sailing, reading, traveling, and swimming.

Wyckoff's invites you to see a travel film, "The Land of the Bible," today, Thursday or Friday at 3 p.m.; Friday night at 7:30 in the 2nd Floor Keystone Room, in commemoration of Lent.

Paradise Valley — Barry Fleischmann was the guest of honor at a surprise party at his birthday on Monday night given by his wife, Pat, at their home in Paradise Valley. Cocktails were served before a dinner catered by Margretta.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poallo of Anahomink; Mr. and Mrs. John Wastek of Cresco; Bert Golden of Reading; John Hopkins of Pittston and Kirby Kick and Pinkie Ace of Stroudsburg.

Quilting Today — The South Sterling Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet for quilting all day Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Roy Quick, South Sterling, and will have the monthly business meeting on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Elmer Becker, South Sterling.

COLD-HEARTED VALENTINE will find a warm reception at a party with the center filled with candy cane ice cream.

Why Not Bake A Valentine Cake To Wean Her Away From The Beatles

By Linda Pipher

Billy's reaction to the Beatles was, "If I were them, I'd get a haircut!" I guess we all had a different reaction; I watched in stunned silence, trying to be objective, wondering what could make millions of teenage girls flip over those four modern Heathcliffs. Personally, I prefer Laurence Oliver.

But then, I'm a different generation, and I'm forced to remember that when I was a teenager, girls were squealing and screaming over Frank Sinatra.

But "Frankie" could sing; those four — well, I guess teenagers would tell me I'm not in orbit.

One thing is certain. The Beatles are the best propaganda for England since the days of Winston Churchill. Not that there is any comparison, but they are focusing world-attention on England, and certainly creating a universal bond with the young people. I wonder if Russian teenagers will wear Beatle wigs? I'd like to see one on Khrushchev!

Apparently, the Beatles coming to America this week is the best Valentine any teenage girl could want. While the rest of us sit and shake our heads, they'll go on singing in ecstasy. Maybe you had better prepare an extra special Valentine for your daughter and remind her of the qualities of a clean-cut American boy!

Pictured above is a Valentine cake, sweet enough for young people, and I would certainly make a hit if you're having a party. It calls for Candy Cane ice cream in the center, but of course, you could use another kind.

Valentine Ice Cream Cake
 1/2 cup shortening
 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 4 teaspoons baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 2/3 cup milk
 1 teaspoon milk
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup strawberry preserves
 1/2 pint whipping cream, whipped
 1 pint candy cane ice cream
 Place shortening in bowl. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt into bowl. Add 2/3 cup milk and vanilla. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer, or by hand, using 150 strokes per minute.

Throughout mixing time, keep butter scraped from sides and bottom of bowl with rubber scraper. Scrape bowl and beaters. Add eggs and 1/2 cup milk. Beat for 2 additional minutes on medium speed. Scrape bowl and beaters. Pour equal amounts of batter into heart-shaped cake pans which have been lined with 2 layers of waxed paper. Bake in a 375 oven about 30 minutes.

To assemble cake: Starting 1 1/2 inches from the edge, cut a heart-shaped piece from the center of one cake layer. Place the cake with the heart-shaped cut-out over the other layer that has been spread with strawberry preserves. Frost the sides with whipped cream. Spoon Candy Cane ice cream into the cut-out center of the heart cake. Serve at once.

If you do not have heart shaped pans, make a heart shape cake this way: Spread one layer of the round cake with frosting, put top layer on. Then cut a wedge from one side, about 3 1/2 inches wide by 3 inches deep. Put the cut out cake wedge at opposite side of cake to make point of heart. Then frost, and if you use a fluffy frosting, you'll have a perfect heart. In the center of the heart make a small heart out of tiny cinnamon candies.

Recently at a Circle Meeting at Myrtle Denning's house, my mother and I both remarked how good the cake was that she served. Myrtle told us that it was a recipe that I had given to her daughter, Beth, when she was in my Home Economics class a few years ago. After checking my files, I couldn't find the same pamphlet, so Myrtle read off the ingredients to me.

This, like the first recipe, is a quick method cake. And as Myrtle told me, it is almost as quick as making a packaged cake. Do remember that proportions are different for this type cake, so do not make it make the recipe according to the popular method of creaming shortening and sugar, adding eggs, then sifted dry ingredients. If you do, you will not have as good a cake.

Frost this with white icing, decorate with candy hearts, and you'll have a Valentine cake. Notice this calls for 9 inch square pans. Myrtle tells me that she usually makes it in two 8 inch layers and puts the remaining batter in cup cake tins which she freezes when baked. It can also be baked in a flat "picnic" pan.

Myrtle's Quick Method Yellow Cake
 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
 12 1/2 cups sugar
 2/3 cup shortening
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup milk
 3 whole eggs
 1 teaspoon flavoring (vanilla, lemon, or almond)

Model Behavior Is Lively

By Jean Sprain Wilson
 AP Fashion Writer

Whatever other trend of significance came out of the fashion previews in Italy recently, the message to the models on this side of the ocean was loud and clear.

Enough of this chin-jutting, stiff-necked, shoulders-slouched, stomach-extended, knees - bent mincing down a runway. Live it up. Kick up your heels. Today the animated manikin is the thing.

However, the fleshless frame, it appears, is still as necessary for the style Princess of Pitti Palace in Florence, Italy as the showroom doll in the New York's garment district.

Since Italian models have never succumbed to the low-heeled American model pump, she especially must be able to teeter on spikes with a fair amount of grace, or float when the chiffon creations call for it.

But when the cameras are focused on her, she must dance spiritedly.

Certainly a pretty face is an advantage, particularly if the assignment is hats. But a versatile one is more handy, and a mobile one is just dandy.

"Laugh! Cry! Sneeze! Be supercilious, reproachful, defiant — Dig under the veneer and let loose those emotions . . ." These must have been the cries of the Italian lensmen assigned to cover the spring fashion previews.

At least, these are the expressions captured on negatives and shipped to America. And they are a far laugh, cry or sneer from the enigmatic countenances of typically American fashion photos.

Oddly, the Italian models seem to be following a trend away from beauty without buoyancy set by American television commercials recently.

On a TV screen these days it is hardly enough for a pretty lass to flash a set of ivories or bat her lashes in ecstasy over the latest detergent additive. She must squint her eyes, wrinkle her nose, clomp on her chewing gum, and mush up her words in order, perhaps, that the average soap user can identify.

Whatever the reason, the television model must enote. And now it has come to pass that the fashion model—at least the ones in Italy—must be an actress as well.

Dottie Fedish Has A Birthday

Mount Pocono — Dottie Lyn Fedish, daughter of Charles and Ellnor Fedish of Mount Pocono celebrated her fourth birthday on Feb. 7 with a family party.

Helping celebrate were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fedish Sr., her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Babcock, and her cousin, Linda and Noreen Babcock; her brother, Chucky, and James Bender, Joel Gearhart and Mrs. Neal Sears. Dottie's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Serfass, who are spending the winter in Florida also sent greetings.

ACT ONE, TWO AND THREE—The star of this performance is an Italian fashion model in three spring numbers by Roman designer Luciani. She is sober as a judge, of course, but in these photos she looks as if she were saying, (pose 1) "Whoops, the party's getting sparky!" (pose 2) "Me looped? I can walk a straighter line than you can." (pose 3) "Leave me alone. I'm going home by myself." The acts are a part of the new liveliness in Italian fashion photography.

Foreign Service Life Offers Careers, Wide Horizons

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

Since so many of you have asked us about jobs overseas, the career we're going to discuss today is work in the Foreign Service — something exciting to think about if you're a young adult.

If you choose it, you'll travel in distant lands and help with foreign relations since you'll join men and women selected and trained by the State Department to carry our policy to the countries of the world.

Travel Is Part Of It

Much travel is likely to be your lot, though there's state-side work to do, too.

In Washington, for instance, you might work in specialized branches. Or in New York, you might hang your hat with the United States Delegation to the United Nations.

On the other hand you might be assigned to a country as old as Egypt. Or you might find your office and your home in a nation whose name is new.

Varied Jobs

Wherever you're sent, however, you'll be an active worker in the world-wide effort to build world peace. And when you're qualified, your jobs can be as varied as working in a consulate office or becoming a full-fledged ambassador. In fact, one woman — Frances Willis — rose right up through the ranks to that post.

If all of this sounds like your kind of job for your future career, here are the qualifications you'll need for an appointment.

Tact, Loyalty

PERSONAL QUALITIES: Intelligence; patience; tact; loyalty; personality; judgment; imagination; resourcefulness; wide general knowledge; curiosity about the world; and a good understanding of your own country.

EDUCATION: A bachelor's degree from a college or university with well-balanced courses behind you.

You'll get Foreign Service training in languages and other skills if you receive an appointment.

GENERAL QUALIFICATIONS: (1) American citizenship; (2) a minimum age of 21 or a maximum of 31 (for in-tial appointment); (3) excellent health.

If you have these qualifications, you can apply to the Foreign Service by writing to the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Department of State, Washington 25, D.C., asking for an application form.

Exotic Post Is On Agenda For Foreign Service Careerist.

Once considered, you'll be investigated because of the nature of the work. You'll also be required to take comprehensive written, oral and physical examinations. If you're successful in passing, your name will be placed on a register. Then, as needs for the service arise, you'll move closer and closer to an appointment.

After you get your appointment, you'll go to the nation's capital for an intensive three months training. And, after that, here's hoping it's "Bon Voyage" to you!

(If you'd like further information on a book on careers in the foreign service, including a reading list of additional books, send me your request and a self-addressed envelope with U.S. postage in care of this newspaper.)

Progressive Club

Stroudsburg — The Progressive Women's Club will meet Wednesday night at 8:30 instead of the usual time of 8 because of Lenten services. The meeting will be held at the Chestnut Hill School and will feature a program by Mrs. Hunsicker and her pupils.

Grace Church Lenten Services Open Wed.

East Stroudsburg — The first in the series of mid-week Lenten vespers services of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, will be held Ash Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. William Wunder will speak on the theme: "Who Am I?" The church choir, with Richard Manheim at the console, will lead in the hymnody. Howard O. Smith, Howard G. Smith, Milton Mery and Irvin Smith will serve as ushers. Cary Walter will be acolyte.

The catechumens will meet at 7 o'clock on Wednesday night for instruction and remain for Vesper service at 7:30.

Two-Year-Old Is Honored

Stroudsburg — Bernadine Gay Decker celebrated her second birthday at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Decker of 450 Hawthorne Terrace.

Guests included her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Van Buskirk of 204 Lackawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg and Mrs. Gladys Decker of Phillips St., Stroudsburg; Mrs. Miriam Decker and children, Edward, Maria and Christina; Mrs. Barbara Strouse and children, Linda and Jay, of Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Van Buskirk and daughter, Ruth; Susie, Debbie, Billy, Hanky and Wally Pyatt, of Stroudsburg and Harold Van Buskirk and Karl Hoppe, East Stroudsburg.

Valentines For Demos

Stroudsburg — A Valentine party will be held by the Women's Democratic Club on Wednesday night at 8 at the Stroud Community House.

Women's League Seeks Data On Registering To Vote

STROUDSBURG — The League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburg has asked citizens of Monroe County to report their opinions and experiences in registering to vote.

The county opinion poll will become part of a state-wide study of election laws by the 53 leagues in Pennsylvania.

The league invited citizens and interested organizations to report their knowledge and experience of the following questions:

- Should requirements on age — the 21-year-old minimum — be lowered or raised?
- Should there be more qualifications to vote?
- Are residency requirements too strict? Should they be changed?
- Should citizens with less than present residence qualifications be allowed to vote for President of the United States?
- How should we prevent voting frauds?

Must Be 21
Under present Pennsylvania law, a voter must be 21, a citizen of the United States for one month, a resident of the state for one year and the voting district or ward for 60 days.

The President's Commission on Registration and Voting Participation recommended last year that the state residence requirement be no longer than six months, the voting district or ward residence requirement no longer than 30 days and that new state residents be allowed to vote for President immediately.

The league study of election law coincides with a study commission on election laws appointed by Governor Scrantom.

Monroe County citizens were asked to submit their opinions.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Wednesday, February 11, 1964
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)
Day may not seem to hold much opportunity at first, but you look closely, you will find it has many advantages. Results will be largely up to you.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)
You may find things that you feel instead of depending on others who do not wish to cooperate. Consider yourself to conquer the world.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)
Don't get caught in foolish maneuvering, time — consuming, pointless conversation. Listen and learn, and give sound suggestions.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)
Think twice before you voice that strong opinion. May need a change of words, even thoughts, after a careful reviewing. Avoid pessimism and contrariness.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)
You can't get better than ordinary action and forethought. Returns can be fine (though not all immediate) with your steady, knowing competition.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)
This is a day for aggressive action. Aim for your goals in a swift, efficient manner. Details may not be crucially important but still a part of the pattern.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)
An auspicious day for business ventures. This is a period in which to give your finest performance, to capitalize on your gift of good management.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)
Counting one's blessings and making one's own luck, but DON'T count returns you have not and MAY NOT receive, mixed with honest use with care in all things.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)
If you can't get much planetary assistance, you can still get up returns today, but before acting, plan well, be sure of facts and details, and DON'T put things off until the last minute.

December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn)
I'm portable now; you may not be. Regular business work matters highly favored. Don't waste time on regrets.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)
Prize for just now, take and by your advice, you have a wonderful chance for accomplishment in the days ahead. The right push, steady.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)
In tangible gains indicated, but pursue work and handle obligations without unnecessary interruptions. Don't neglect the substantial for "flashy" but momentary gain.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)
BORN TODAY are highly intelligent, instantly generous with time, assets, wish to see all and do all good things. You make excellent businessmen, charity workers, and business executives. As plain laborers, you always achieve more than anticipated because drifting is not for you. You can become a great success in your own field, developing your remarkable mobility and abundant spiritual gifts for success. The Aquarian does not at all wish to recognize his own potential. You are likely because you are kind, willing, cheerful, can "stay put" or rise to unbelievable heights — your journey, brighten up! Arrive home, Lincoln, 10th U.S. Pres.

2 Questioned In Firing Of B-B Gun

EAST STROUDSBURG — Two East Stroudsburg boys from the housing development were released in the custody of their parents Sunday after being questioned about shooting a B-B gun at passing cars.

Douglas Cook of 906 Scott St., Stroudsburg, told East Stroudsburg Police that he was traveling south on N. Courtland St., at about 4 p.m. on Sunday when something struck his windshield.

He stopped, looked around, and saw a small boy on a side porch of a house near 455 N. Courtland St.

Police went to the area and were unable to locate the boy, but additional investigation showed that several boys from the housing development were in the area. The names of the children were learned and they were picked up by police.

At the time of pick-up one boy had in his possession a B-B pistol.

A student at Milton Hershey School, a privately endowed school for boys in Hershey, Pa., Wilson was one of 150 musicians selected from 38 high schools in an area comprising 10 counties.

Selections were on a competitive basis, with eliminations at school, district, and county levels before finalists were named.

Wilson, who plays tuba, is a member of the Milton Hershey band, dance orchestra, and glee club. He is a senior and is the composer of the class song.

Guest conductor of the event was Vaclav Nohybel, a native of Czechoslovakia, and now an American citizen. He was formerly music director for Radio Free Europe.

Ash Wednesday To Be Observed

Night Chain Of Prayer At Eastburg Methodist

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Methodist Church for the 8th year will begin the 1964 Lenten Season today with the "All Night Chain of Prayer".

Rev. Harold C. Eaton and Rev. Louis C. Johnson, pastors, will be at the altar of the church, beginning at 6 o'clock tonight and continuing throughout a 12-hour Chain of Prayer.

Members of the congregation and friends of the community will form "links" of 20-minute periods of prayer directed by the pastors.

Beginning at 6, Ash Wednesday night the first "link" comes to the altar to participate — at twenty minutes past, the second "link", at twenty minutes before the hour and again on each hour throughout the night until the close at 6:00 a.m. Thursday morning.

$7,569 Tax Lien Filed In County

STROUDSBURG — Kenneth O. Hook, district director of the Bureau of Internal Revenue of Philadelphia, has instituted a tax lien against David Fleischman, RD 2 Stroudsburg, representing Fleischman's Sports-wear for $7,569.32.

The lien was filed Thursday in the office of Frank Smith, Monroe County prothonotary.

Car Rolls Over, Driver Unhurt

GILBERT — Ronald R. Berger, 29, Kunkletown RD 2 escaped injury last night at 9 p.m. when his car ran down a small embankment, rolled over and came to rest in a field.

State Police from Leighton said Berger was traveling south on Rt. 209 when another car attempted to pass the Berger car. Berger thought the second car would not have enough room to pass so he touched his brakes.

The brakes of the Berger car locked causing the driver to lose control. The car crossed Rt. 209, ran down a small embankment, rolled over and came to rest in the field alongside the highway. Damage is estimated at $200 to the Berger car.

Cy Barrett Says

Help Employed Too

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

WE ARE now discussing careers, employment and employment agencies in class. Many of my students have incorrect notions about employment agencies such as an agency not dealing with an applicant who is already employed but wants a better job. The class thinks agencies are only for people who are jobless when they apply. Perhaps you can help me enlighten them?

Also, do you know anything about what type of employees are most in demand?

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER
DEAR TEACHER: Last year, the National Employment association surveyed its 850 members to determine why most job applicants accepted their services. A better job was cited as the most common reason. Others in order were: unemployed, a recent graduate, military discharge.

Throughout the country, engineers and technicians are in heaviest demand among white-collar workers top the list for women. According to U.S. Department of labor figures, from 1940 to 1963, professional and technical workers rose from 8 per cent of the work force to 12.1 per cent. White collar careers shot moonward from 32.9 per cent to 43.5 per cent. Both dramatic increases.

While we are about it, your students should hear these solemn words of Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, delivered at the Senator Wagner Memorial dinner in New York last April:

"It used to be that a young person who failed to finish a high school education could get a job, almost invariably an unskilled job. Today machines are doing most of the unskilled jobs and the number of such jobs available to untrained youngsters is going down every year. It isn't that more children are dropping out of school but more of those who do are consigned to idleness."

DEAR CY: This "money management" talk is getting so high flown, the average man is told to live by unworkable formulas. I read where a writer advised a woman with a husband and two children to budget $60 per month.

DEAR SYLVIA: Writers, like budgeteers can be too literal. Since 25% is the share of income which should usually be devoted to rent, $265 was roughly divided by 4. In a $60 rental unit, a family like this would soon be divided by 2. Budgets should be guidelines, adhered to rigidly if possible. A shortage of reasons has never been the great American puzzle.

I don't mean a budget is merely an orderly system of living beyond one's means. Common sense should be used to decide where money is to go. In the final voting on the motion Mrs. Charlotte Hough voted no; Dr. Nicholas Cascario, Heard and Charles Will-

Bangor Board To Send Two Delegates To Parley

BANGOR — Members of the Bangor Borough School Board engaged in a lengthy discussion Monday night on the sending of delegates to the annual convention of the National School Boards Assn. in Houston, Texas.

The board finally agreed to send two delegates to the convention. The local board will contribute the sum of $50 for each delegate.

According to W. John Heard, board member, this would be the extent of the local board's contribution due to budgetary limitations.

It was explained by Atty. Edmund Turtzo, board solicitor, according to new state regulations the local board could legally pay all expenses and up to $25 per day for room and board.

The expenses must, Turtzo said, be concurrent with the related expenses of the convention plus the rate of ten cents per mile for travel.

One No Vote
In the final voting on the motion Mrs. Charlotte Hough voted no; Dr. Nicholas Cascario, Heard and Charles Williams were for the motion and both Clair Peiffer and Marvin Depanaphis abstained from voting.

The convention will be held on April 25, 26, 27 and 28.

A report on the destruction of two tires on Bangor Borough buses, used to transport the boy's basketball team to East Stroudsburg High School, on Jan. 21, was presented by Merle W. Mabius.

According to the report the tires were slashed by unknown parties while the bus was parked in the parking lot next to the school.

Ralph Barrows, principal of East Stroudsburg, noted the local police are continuing to make investigations on the damages.

The Bangor board was also informed the tire damage amounted to $155.32, for which the local district has not received restitution.

Bills amounting to $38,801.85 were approved for payment and Mrs. Hough reported bank balances of $120,150.16.

Stroud Union Loses, 69-44

By KEN O'BRIEN
Daily Record Sports Editor
STROUDSBURG — Palmer-ton's Blue Bombers, behind the sharp shooting of Dick Noll and Pete Delich, blasted the Mountaineers of Stroud Union last night, 69-44. The defeat was the second in three outings for the Mounties in the second-half play of the Lehigh Valley League.

For the Bombers, who picked up their second win of this season, the victory avenged a previous loss to Stroud Union. The Mountaineers, you might say, lost the game at the foul line from where they made but one appearance during the entire game. It didn't much matter whether that was made or not, but for the record, it wasn't.

One Free Shot
Glenn Bissling was the only Mountaineer to take a free shot, Palmer-ton, on the other hand, made 17 of 22 attempts from the charity stripe.

The Bombers also held the edge from the floor where they hit on 26 field goals while Stroud Union pumped in 22. The Mountaineers never led in the ballgame but managed three times during the first period to knot the count. Stroud Union trailed at the end of that session by 10-8 and never caught up from there.

Full Away
Palmer-ton started to pull away early in the second half when Roger Lipich hit for two consecutive dunks which boosted the Bomber lead to 16-10. With less than two minutes remaining before the half, Noll, Delich and Dennis Levandovsky combined for an eight-point spree, supplying an 11-point lead over the Mounties, 27-16. A deuce by Dave Pierson made it 27-18 at intermission.

The pull-away by Palmer-ton continued in the third stanza as the Bombers piled up an 18-point bulge with 1:30 remaining at 46-28. Stroud Union was never in the game after that.

Noll ripped the cords for 17 points while Delich contributed 16 to the triumph. But the high-game scoring honors went to Stroud Union's Dave Pierson who netted 22 on 11 field goals which was exactly half the total of the entire team.

Palmer-ton also won the JV game, 36-26.

Pius X Wins, 75-64

ROSETO—Frank Godino and Mike DeRenzi set a torrid scoring pace, hitting for 50 points between them, to lead the Royals of Pius X to a 75-64 triumph over visiting Blairstown, N. J., last night.

Godino tallied 26 and DeRenzi hit for 24 to pace the Royals to their fifth win in 10 contests. Jim Angelini added 10 to the victory.

Don Frenas bagged 20 for the Jersey squad while Bill Wright tallied 16.

Hot Foul Shooting
Both teams were hot at the foul line. Blairstown hit for a phenomenal 100 per cent, swishing in all 22 attempts. Pius X hit for 25 of 30—which is nothing to sneeze at, either.

The two clubs battled on even terms throughout the first period which ended in a 15-15 standoff. But the Royals outdistanced Blairstown in the second session by 22-17 for a half-time lead of 37-31.

The Royals put the game on ice in the third canto by out-pointing the visitors 20-12 in the third period for a 57-43 advantage entering the final quarter.

Wilson Trounces Eastburg, 79-53

EAST STROUDSBURG — Scoring 31 points in the final quarter, Wilson Borough kept alive its dimming hopes for a repeat as Lehigh - Northampton League champions last night by blasting host East Stroudsburg, 79-53.

The triumph for the second-place Warriors was their eighth against four league losses. For the Cavaliers, it was their sixth straight defeat and placed them with a 2-10 mark in the league.

New Record
Wilson's Chuck Liesko set a new gym record by hitting on 13 of 18 foul shots. Both his totals — shots made and attempted — are new marks.

He broke the number made set by Bangor's Pete Speer (12) Jan. 31 this year. And he also broke the most attempts for a single game which was set by Hellestown's John Kelchner in 1962.

Eastburg gained a 13-12 lead after the first eight minutes and trailed by only 30-29 at half-time. But the visiting Warriors blasted the nets for 18 points in the third stanza to gain 48-39 advantage entering the final canto.

Roof Falls In
Then the roof fell in. Wilson went on its spree as Liesko and Scott Claus netted eight straight points between them to give the Warriors a 20-point spread at 67-47 to sew up the ballgame.

Liesko finished the game with 23 points while Steve Hickey pushed in 18. Gary Laubach added 14 and Gordy Bennett notched 10.

Bill Reese set the scoring pace for the Cavaliers, netting 20. Thad Janusz hit for 12 and Doug Hilyard netted 11.

Wilson also won the JV contest, 50-50.

Eagles Slam Knights

NAZARETH — The high-scoring Blue Eagles of Nazareth clinched at least a tie for the northern division crown of the Lehigh - Northampton League last night by ripping Pen Argyl, 80-55, and remained undefeated with a 12-0 record in the league.

It was the 13th straight triumph for the Eagles who have all but run away with the title, and now are set to upset Wilson Borough as the kingpin of the north's L-N circuit.

The defeat dropped the Green Knights to a .500 mark both in the league (6-6) and overall (9-9).

Turtzio Scores 30
Dave Turtzio, who scored but four points for Pen Argyl in the first half, finished the game with 30, high for both teams.

The output gives a total of 560 for the season and 1,317 for his scholastic career.

Glen Engler was the big gun for the winners, hitting for 25 points while teammate Mike Lilly slammed in 21.

Nazareth zipped out in front after the first period by a 14-8 margin and held a half-time lead of 32-24. Both clubs played on even terms in the third period with the Eagles gaining an 18-17 edge but Nazareth blew the lid off the contest in the final stanza, outscoring the Knights by a 30-14 margin.

Bangor Trims Panthers

BANGOR — Coach Bill Pen-syl's Bangor Slaters registered their second win over Hellestown last night, blasting the visiting Panthers, 79-64, in a Lehigh - Northampton League battle.

Leading all the way, Bangor gained a 20-0 bulge after the first eight minutes and led at the half, 37-20.

Not until the final period, when Hellestown barged 20 points to 19 for Bangor, did the Panthers make a game of it. Conspicuous by his absence was Hellestown's Neil Curtis, who is averaging 30 points a game and is out of action with an injured leg.

The Slaters trimmed Hellestown earlier in the season, 59-50.

Speer Sets Pace
Pete Speer set the scoring pace for the Slaters, bagging 24 points on 11 field goals and two foul shots. Marc Schiavone netted 12 to the triumph while Jimmy Dietz pumped in 11.

Hellestown's Jerry Holm was the only visiting player to reach double figures, netting 19 on six field goals and seven foul throws.

The victory was the eighth against four losses for Bangor in the league. Overall the Slaters stand at 11-5.

Bangor also won the JV contest in an overtime scrap, 52-49.

K.C. Fans Puzzled; Hold Closed Wallets

KANSAS CITY (AP) — What next?

That's what baseball fans are asking as Athletics' owner Charles O. Finley and Kansas City swap jibes and remain adamant over a contract for use of Municipal Stadium by the A's.

The Athletics go on with preparations for the spring training season and signing of players, including Jim Gentile, former Baltimore first baseman.

But only a limp start has been made by the club's management toward sale of season tickets. Any help from the city and the Chamber of Commerce apparently awaits the completion of a stadium lease.

Soviet Hockey

INNSBRUCK, AUSTRIA — It isn't clear, to this minute, why Anatoly Tarasov, coach of the Russian hockey team, invited your correspondent to sit down with him, because he remarked immediately he didn't wish to talk.

Our interpreter was a love-sick Cossack who had stood up by a lady member of the Soviet Olympic team, idled by her failure to show, he kibitzed the communication by-play between coach and reporter before volunteering mercifully to translate.

Comrade Tarasov is a Major in the Soviet Army who coaches the hockey team of the Central Sports Club in Moscow. His associate in the Olympic venture is Arkady Chernichov, coach of the Civilian Dynamo Club, also of Moscow.

Between them, they have put together what is generally rated the finest hockey team ever to visit an Olympics. It is a seasoned team, comprising remarkably swift skaters who made pretty much a joke of competition that opposed them in most of the Games of the Olympic Tournament.

A Russian newspaper pointed out that Chermichov serves essentially as tactician, while Tarasov is the leader, the organizer and the give-and-take guy who demands, and often gets, perfection. For years thought has been given in American football to the hiring of two head coaches, one to prepare the team for games and the other to make the speeches and handle the increasing burden of the communications media.

Plainly, Anatoly Tarasov would be miscast in the latter assignment.

"How long have you been coaching hockey?" he was asked. "Let us not talk about me," he replied.

"Why not?" we inquired.

"Because it is not the thing to be doing at this moment."

Further we looked under the table and over our shoulder in search of secret police, but then the picture came into focus. Anatoly was merely another coach who didn't wish to put a whammy on his team by talking prematurely.

You know the type unmistakably — the guy who mumbles solemnly that we play 'em one at a time.

We congratulated Tarasov on the fine team that he has brought to Innsbruck.

"At this point," he answered, "We like critics better than fans."

Obviously he was concerned about Laudatory press clippings, which you must admit is distinctly a switch for the Russians, whose coach was battling over-confidence preceding the big match with Canada.

"Hockey in the Soviet Union," said Tarasov, "is only 18 years old. Like any child of 18, it wants to be liked by everyone — by its parents, by outsiders and by itself."

"Our team has made a strong try for this adulation, and the pressure is great. The hockey games we are playing in Innsbruck are being watched on television by a hundred million people in the Soviet Union."

We didn't ask Comrade Tarasov what rating system was coming up with such a figure, largely because he didn't question the claim of American television that 60 million watched the Sunday game of the 1963 World Series.

Since telephones are not yet plentiful in the Soviet Union, you presumed that poll takers make their way by snowshoe in dead of winter for door-to-door canvassing.

"Is coaching hockey your full time occupation?" Tarasov was asked.

"There are subjects much more interesting than me," he answered.

With that, he rose and departed abruptly, pretty much as Woody Hayes did that day in the Coliseum last fall when USC whipped him 32 to 3.

Suddenly, Tarasov returned. He shook his interviewer's hand and said warmly, "Please convey the best wishes of the Soviet hockey team to the hockey team of America."

Now he took off as quickly as he had come. Even the interpreter shook his head in slight puzzlement, and shrugged as if to say, "It takes all kinds."

"The guy looked at his watch and searched the reception center Russian building. The Soviet babe with whom he had the date still hadn't shown. He shrugged again and walked away, a little sad."

ESSC Athletes Face Busy Day

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Warrior athletes of East Stroudsburg State College resume a heavy sports schedule today with the wrestling and basketball teams battling on the home front and the swimmers traveling to LaSalle.

The lone matinee affair sees the grapplers of Coach Red Wilman tangle with visiting Mansfield in a 3 p.m. match. After winning the first eight matches of the season, the wrestlers have bowed twice in a row to Bloomsburg and Lock Haven and hope to regain the winning trail in this meet.

Coach Ken Sissen's hoop squad, winners of only one game in 13 outings, will seek to snap a 10-game losing streak by hosting Shippensburg. The Shippers scored an early-season triumph over the Warriors which gives the ESSC quintet another reason for a victory.

The swimmers of Coach Paul Grimm, meanwhile, who had their four-meet winning skein broken last week by West Chester, also hope to get back on the right side of the ledger tonight against LaSalle in a road engagement.

Thus, it all adds up to one thing for all three ESSC teams — victories which will halt recent losses.

Yanks Prime Gibbs

By FRANK H. ECK
AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK — If $100,000 bonus athlete Jake Gibbs ran a winning football team he can also run a winning baseball team. That's how the New York Yankees figure. It is one of the reasons they are sticking with the former Mississippi All-American quarterback and third baseman as a catcher.

Another reason is that the Yankees, once loaded with good catchers, are horribly short in the mask and mitt department.

When Yogi Berra announced his retirement as a player after 17 seasons to become manager, the Yankees were left with only one catcher, Elsie Howard, the best Johnny Blanchard had failed to catch a league game in 1963. Howard went on to get the league's most valuable player vote.

Prefer Howard? Yankee pitchers prefer Howard for catching. Blanchard seems weak catching tight pitches. However, Berra insists "Blanchard will be our No. 2 catcher." This leaves Jake Gibbs, who turns 25 next Nov. 7, right in the middle.

Thus, rich Jake Gibbs, with his fat bonus spread over five years through 1965, may be seen in a lot of Florida exhibition games this spring. He should be a good pupil under Coach Jim Hegan for the chunky 185-pound Jake, just under six feet, wants to catch. He has had two and a half seasons with Richmond, Va., and has been told catching will get him to the big leagues sooner.

Convert Gibbs

"Last spring Manager Ralph Houk, realizing Cleo Boyer was a third base fixture and that Yogi would step up as manager, decided to convert Gibbs into a catcher," says Yankee farm director Johnny Johnson.

"We knew we'd have a shortage of catchers on the major league roster, and Gibbs was sent to Richmond last spring where he did quite well except for a couple of broken fingers."

"Gibbs is a quiet fellow off the field, with a slow drawl but behind the plate he's aggressive. He takes charge, just like he did in football. He pulls the ball pretty good and runs the bases well."

No. 1 Problem

No Yankee will admit it but the catching behind Howard could be Berra's No. 1 problem this season, unless Yogi can talk his pitchers into going along with Blanchard or unless Gibbs comes through in the training games.

Gibbs hit .294 in 131 games for Richmond in '62, his first full season in Triple A ball. He played third, batted second. Last year two broken fingers on two different foul tips limited him to 68 games and a .233 batting average.

After signing with the Yankees, Gibbs broke into organized ball with five hits in seven trips in a June 6, 1961 doubleheader. He was signed by former pitcher Atley Donald.

Ole Miss Star

In 1960 Gibbs passed for 12 touchdowns and got five more running. He was the Ole Miss star in the 1960 and 1961 Sugar Bowl games. In the Jan. 2, 1961 New Orleans 14-6 bowl win over Rice, Gibbs scored with Mississippi touchdowns.

In the spring of '61 every major league club saw him play baseball for Ole Miss. Previously the Cleveland Browns (National Football League) and Houston Oilers (American Football League) had drafted him for football.

"I guess they thought it was useless," says Gibbs. "They knew my first love was baseball."

Airport Could Be Improved, Pipher Declares

(Ed. note: This is the third in a series of articles on the Pocono Mountains Airport—its troubles, its purposes, and its future.)

By JEFF COX
"I know there could be improvement up there somewhere," said County Commissioner Stuart Pipher, speaking of the Pocono Mountains Airport in Mount Pocono.

"I've talked with many of the township supervisors from the contributing townships of Barre, Coolbaugh, Tobyhanna, Pocono, and the borough of Mt. Pocono," he said, "and they're just disgruntled at the way it's being handled."

"The taxpayers of Monroe County and the participating municipalities have poured a lot of money into that airfield, and if you go up there now there's not even toilet facilities."

Agreement Not Kept
"You take the $7,500 per year that the county commissioners allocated toward the airport—this was before my time on the board—they later upped it to $10,000 with their understanding. I am told, that the extra $2,500 would be used toward a building of some sort."

"Well there is no complete building," said the new commissioner.

"And take this entry on the financial statement: '$19,000,' with the note, 'The Tobyhanna Army Depot refuses to accept this charge.'"

Capt. M. J. Reichel, Depot Commander, later said that the depot was presented with the charge representing space rental.

He said that if the depot had known it would be charged for rental, it wouldn't have taken the space.

"It's purely a one-sided agreement," he said. "We didn't know we were going to be charged. But now, that's water over the dam—the airport authority now acknowledges our position."

Asks New Chairman
"I've been banging away at all angles of this thing," Pipher said, "even before I was sworn in as a commissioner. As far as I can see it, one way to straighten this thing out is to have a new chairman."

"I know the chairman has put his heart and a lot of his own time into that airport, but several of the supervisors and interested people up there are unhappy with the operation," Pipher said.

"There's just too much vagueness all around," he added.

Pipher said he wanted the county commissioners to meet with the authority and get some more action.

Want Sound Control
"I can't speak for the other two commissioners," he said, "but I want to tell the authority we want some new administration up there."

"The authority says it doesn't have the money to complete the airport. That may be true, but the question is 'why?' They say they want to update the assessed valuation of the contributing municipalities from 1951 to 1964."

(Airport contributions from the townships and boroughs are now pledged on the basis of one-half mill on the property values of 1951; the authority has stated that they would like to base the half mill tax on 1964 valuations. This would raise revenue from the municipalities from $3,305 to $12,540 yearly, and from the commissioners from $10,000 to $23,807 yearly).

"Well, if they had appealed for a new assessment a long time ago, and more progress on this project, they probably would have gotten it."

Afraid To Insert
"But now, people are afraid to put more money into the thing. Barrett Township has already turned down the new assessment."

Pipher was asked what he thought of Aero-Mod, Inc., the firm that leases the airport, runs it, and has promised to erect a building.

"I want them to live up to their promise and erect the building. They promised to have it up last summer, then again during this winter. But they haven't done it."

Pipher said that there are many local people who could run the airport and make a successful venture out of it.

Isaac Miller of Pocono Summit is the contractor who was called in to finish the building that Aero-Mod started after they took over the airport.

"Aero-Mod had hired some people to construct the building, but that cost them too much," Miller said. "So they called me in. I brought $6,000 worth of equipment and materials up there and then they told me that they had no more money."

"The trouble is," said Miller, "that the airport authority has them bound so tightly they can't finish the building. In their contract is a clause which says Aero-Mod may put no lien against any buildings they erect."

No Mortgage Allowed
"Now how are you going to build a $60,000 building today without a mortgage? Aero-Mod can't get a penny from the banks because of that clause."

And so, they can't pay to finish the building. I'd say there's about $35,000 to $40,000 worth of work left to be done."

Miller said that L. L. McCullough, president of Aero-Mod, is "a real nice person. He wants to finish that building very badly."

"He took me with him once to the American Radio Corp. plant in Bounton, N. J. This company has a big government contract to work on radios—in the millions. I heard them say that if Aero-Mod could finish the building, they'd send 28 men to work permanently at the airport."

"Now you know Aero-Mod wants that—you know they want to finish the building."

County-Wide Support
Miller said that the county as a whole should put up the security so that Aero-Mod can finish the hangar and office space. "The people in Stroudsburg aren't interested, but it's their airport as much as it is ours."

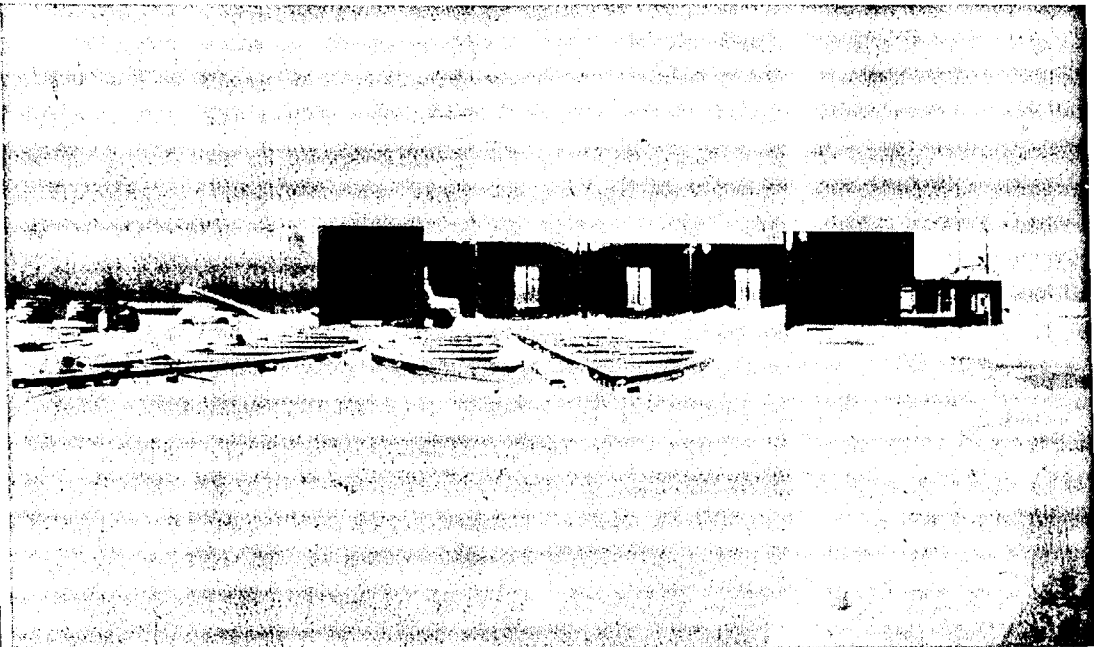

Aero-Mod is currently giving the airport authority three and a half per cent of its gross receipts. Last year this amounted to about $1,900 for the Authority, or about $70,000 in gross receipts for Aero-Mod.

There is nothing in the original contract saying that Aero-Mod must erect the building right away—the contract gives them 10 years to do that. But there is L. L. McCullough's promise.

Aero-Mod says it has its hands tied because of the contract clause. The authority has its hands tied because of lack of funds, yet all want this building built.

(Tomorrow: What Monroe County can do to finish its airport.)

NOT COMPLETED—Aero-Mod, Inc. started building this building in the spring of 1963. The building was to be completed within 60 days. It was to include hangar, office, work and sanitary facilities. All that stands are the four walls. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Area Student Elected To State Post

BANGOR — John Farace, a junior at Bangor Area High School, has been named first vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Student Councils.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Farace of 401 Garibaldi Ave., Roseto.

Farace was chosen by the Bangor area school's own student council. The school was designated to fill the office at the state convention in October at West York Area High School.

As first vice president he will be one of 30 Pennsylvania student delegates to attend the National Assn. of Student Councils' convention in Bangor, Maine, June 29 to July 2.

Farace will also help make plans for the state convention to be held at Butler High School in Pittsburgh.

Accompanying him to both conventions will be Earl Lutz, Bangor Area High School faculty advisor.

Farace is a college preparatory pupil. He has served on the student council for three years.

Firemen Of 'Creek' Elect Aides

MARSHALLS CREEK — The 1964 officers of the Marshall's Creek Fire Co. were elected recently.

They are Ronald J. Hughes, president; Frank Driesbach, vice president; Alfred Baxter Jr., secretary; Carlyle Huffman, treasurer; Amzi Miller, financial secretary; Charles Degen, corresponding secretary.

Ray Hartmann and Harvey Huffman have been elected to the board of directors with Russ Albert as chairman.

Ralph Miller is the fire chief and Richard MacDonald is the assistant chief of the company. Charles Degen is the second assistant.

Edward Hines, Durling Ace Jr., and Roger Hartmann are the engineers of the fire company.

Other business involved the election of officers of the Relief Association for 1964.

They are Bruce Sherman, president; Amzi Miller, vice president; Victor Hoehe, secretary; Ray Lewis, treasurer.

Trustees are Ray Mosier, Ralph Miller and Harvey Huffman.

The fire chief's report for 1963 revealed the following: number of calls, 60; average number of men at each call, 22; property value, $148,000; total saved, $53,500.

Slate Belt Area Residents Aided By Control Center

WIND GAP — The Blue Mountain Control Center has proven itself an integral factor in the lives and safety of 22,000 residents of the Slate Belt area.

Center officials say the unit is one of the first radio control alert stations formed in the eastern part of the country. Headquarters is located adjacent to the Wind Gap borough municipal building.

The main tools of operation are a 65-watt base station transmitter and five telephones in contact with the area members.

The center utilizes a 125-foot tower and antenna and 25 mobile and portable radios for transmitting or receiving.

Operating through the cooperation of three boroughs and two townships, the center maintains round-the-clock radio communications with police cars, ambulances and fire departments. Members of the supporting group are Pen Argyl, Bangor, Wind Gap, Bushkill and Plainfield townships. Each municipality supports the center financially by payments based on population.

Presently, the center pays radio operators on a 24-hour three-shift basis. The operators are Copeland Hughes Jr., manager, Pen Argyl; Elwood Roberts, Wind Gap; Herbert Smith, Plainfield Township, and Emory Rowlands, Bangor.

The center has handled more than 45,000 incoming phone calls for assistance of various nature since 1957, its beginning. More than 37,000 radio transmissions have been acted upon during the six-year operation.

The control center is operated by a six-man board of directors. All are members of borough councils or township boards of supervisors.

They are Samuel Hicks, chairman, Bangor; Gregory Unger, Bushkill Township; Nelson Lee, Pen Argyl; Earl Ackerman, Plainfield Township; Charles DeNardo, Wind Gap.

2 Deeds Filed At Courthouse

STROUDSBURG — Two deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette Batory, Monroe County register and recorder:

Dorothy Watkins, executrix of the estate of the late Eleanor E. Kleiman of Wilkes-Barre, has deeded land in Tobyhanna Township to Warren H. and David A. Madden of Chesapeake City, Md.

Also Charles H. and Iva B. Frailley, Stroud Township to Milton A. and Lucy M. Roth, 421 7th Ave., N.Y.C., property in Smithfield Township.

and Hughes. The center has received awards from New Jersey and from the U.S. Navy for its efforts in directing various operations.

Center officials point out that service is only available to participating municipalities.
